Bruce, Albrecht Square Off Over Nursing Budget

Switch Of Personnel Held Way To Meet Fiscal Trims

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

Discussions on the County Health Department budget for the 1964-65 fiscal year turned today into a blood-letting session to get the department through this year.

The problem was to try to keep the bedside nursing program going at some minimal level of service, after the fund cutback ordered recently by the board of supervisors.

County Administrator Alan Bruce suggested public health nurses now working on other programs in the health department could be switched to the bedside nursing program temporarily part-time.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, head of the health department, said the nurses would not agree to such a switch, since the function is not covered by the job description.

"You're in charge of the department," answered Bruce. "They'll do the job you tell them to do." He said that the job descriptions are written for recruiting purposes, not to limit the job a worker may do.

He said if it is necessary to fire a public health nurse for lack of cooperation, Doctor Albrecht could expect full backing of the personnel commission and the board of supervisors.

SOMEONE ELSE?

"We might fire some other people," mused Doctor Albrecht.

Bruce agreed for next year's budget to an increase of two and one-half positions of clerical help, but could reach no agreement with the department head on the need for an additional public health nurse or for a part-time nutritionist.

The budget and expenditures so far this year were combed and about $3,000 in money not yet spent was found to add to the nursing program. Money for unfilled positions was also included, in the hope that about 48 visits a week could be made by the bedside nurses for the rest of this fiscal year.

NO NEW ONES

Wallace Chipman, health department administrative assistant, said no new patient is being accepted, and there has been some attrition in the case load, partly through deaths.

Bruce asked that the rate be hiked from the present $6 a visit to at least $5. He said cases paid for by the welfare department can go at the higher rate soon. He noted that the supervisors had intended to run a self-supporting program, but that it had not worked out that way.

Yesterday, budgets for the clerk's office and superior courts were agreed upon between County Clerk George

Search Leads To Florida For Suspects In Slaying

Loot Found In Car; Woman Knew Pair

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Search spread to Florida today for two suspects in the slaying of Donald Glenn Corbett Jr. of Sausalito, who was found stabbed and bludgeoned Monday in his 203-A Valley Street apartment.

Wanted, said Police Chief Kenneth A. Huck, are John Lee King and a man still only known as "Steve"—who may be Robert L. Jones, formerly of Broderick and Vacaville.

The two men disappeared from their Waldo Point houseboat and green metal ark last Saturday about noon.

They rented a 1964 Cadillac convertible in San Francisco, using Corbett's credit card, and went on a spree to Sparks and Las Vegas, Nev., where they financed their merry making with Corbett's personal checks.

Corbett, 30, is believed to have been slain before midnight on Good Friday, the motive being robbery, said Chief Huck. Many of Corbett's belongings have been found in the houseboat, Surfside One, occupied by King.

New developments in the investigation today were:

1. A late model Pontiac, reported stolen one month ago in Dallas, Tex., was found abandoned in the parking lot at Zack's-By-The Bay, Bridgeway and Turney Street.

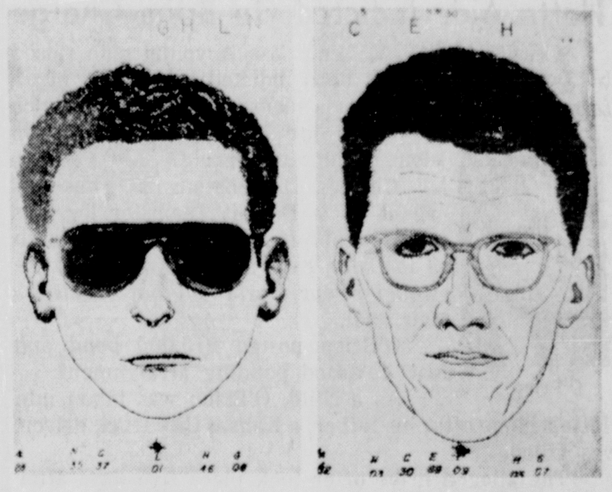

Loot, from Corbett's plush waterfront apartment was found in the car trunk. It includes an ash tray and a foot-tall statue of a discus thrower. The car, said police, had stolen California license plates.

2. Arlene Farris, 39, who is a live-in baby sitter at the home of Mrs. Anne Valentine at 516 Caledonia Street, told police she spent much of Friday night with King and Stevens. She said they consumed a great number of "black Russian" vodka drinks. "They got pretty drunk," Miss Farris told police. She said "Steve" once complained he was "sick in my soul."

3. Jane Dean, 25, cocktail waitress at Zack's, who served the pair Friday night, said both "were very drunk and talkative." She has been questioned, Huck said, but has added nothing of consequence.

4. Vacaville police informed Huck that Virgil W. Stevens, a taxi driver, was robbed and his driver's license taken. They reported he had identified a photo of Robert Lee Jones, as that of the robber. Jones has two known addresses, at Broderick and Vacaville. The "Steve" of the Sausalito pair

Russia Starts Hitting Back At Red China

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev opened his personal campaign against Communist China today by bitterly accusing Peking of trying to wreck the Socialist movement.

Warning that China's leaders want to gain control over the international Communist movement, Khrushchev told an audience of top government leaders at the opera house:

"What can we say when confronted with such absurd aspirations. Only one thing. Those desperate efforts of the Chinese leaders, with which they hope to gain command of the Communist movement, are doomed to failure.

"In recent years, the Marxist-Leninist parties have strengthened and developed tremendously and nobody has been able to turn them from the only correct path of Leninism."

U.S., Panama Reach Agreement On Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Panama have reached agreement on a formula for resuming diplomatic relations and discussing a settlement of their dispute over the Panama Canal, authoritative sources said today.

An announcement from the White House, Panama City and the Organization of American States is expected within a matter of a few hours, the sources said.

Doctors Report Fair Night For MacArthur

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur passed a "fair night" in his dogged battle against the effects of three recent operations, his doctors said today.

A medical bulletin by Surgeon General Leonard B. Heaton said MacArthur's condition remains critical. However, he said one good sign was that there had been no bleeding from the esophagus for 20 hours.

New Cyprus Fighting

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — A Cypriot was shot dead in a flareup of gighting on the island's north coast today as United Nations political mediation began in Nicosia. A U.N. patrol rushed to the scene of the fighting near Kato Pyrgos. It reported a man was killed but did not say if the victim was Turkish or Greek Cypriot.

Engle Says He Won't Be Pushed Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.), declared today his determination to seek re-election.

"I will not be scared out, talked out, rumored out, pushed out, or bought out of running," he said in a telegram, made public through his office, to supporters on the occasion of the opening in Los Angeles of campaign headquarters of the Committee to Reelect Clair Engle.

The telegram said: "I pledge to you that—God willing, I will be back in California before June 2. I pledge to you that I'm in this fight all the way."

Engle underwent brain surgery Aug. 24 in Washington.

In the telegram, Engle said he had planned to be present at the opening of the campaign headquarters, but "that was unfortunately not possible."

KIDNAPING, THEFTS

Suspects Linked To Other Crimes

By RICHARD LYTTLE

On Feb. 21, 1964, in the outskirts of Stockton, cab company owner Virgil Woodrow Stevens, 50, was kidnaped, robbed and very nearly shot by a young gunman who escaped with $110 in cash and a $200 ring.

Stevens' driver's license and credit cards were found by Sausalito police yesterday in a fiberglass cosmetics case that was hidden beneath a broken down sofa outside the houseboat where they found loot from the apartment of murdered Donald Glenn Corbett Jr.

One of two men wanted for questioning in the killing has been using the alias of V. M. Stevens.

Stevens, whose life was saved by a passing car early on the morning of Feb. 21, has identified the gunman as "Robert L. Jones." He picked his photo out of several shown him by San Joaquin County sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Stevens told the Independent-Journal today that her husband picked up a young man in West Sacramento at 2 a.m.

"He was known to us," she said. "We had him as a fare two days before, but we did not know his name."

He wanted to go to Stockton, but the cab broke down, and the trip was delayed. When Stevens and his fare finally arrived in Stockton, the young man did not know exactly where he wanted to go. About 8 a.m. he had suddenly made up his mind.

Until then, there had been no trouble, Mrs. Stevens said.

Woman Says She'll Deliver Own Baby If Doctor Barred

If Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman is not permitted to deliver her baby, she'll do it herself at Marin General Hospital, a San Rafael woman declared today.

Mrs. Joyce E. Conway of 30 La Brea Way wrote William W. Turner, administrator of the hospital, that "I absolutely will not permit a doctor not of my own choice to so much as lay a hand on me."

Ascherman, a San Francisco general practitioner, was denied permission to deliver Mrs. Conway's baby at the hospital by directors of Marin Hospital District at a special meeting Monday night. Last week, on recommendation of the hospital's medical staff, the board denied Ascherman surgical privileges at the hospital.

Turner, at the board's direction, sent Mrs. Conway a list of about 60 obstetricians on the Marin General Hospital staff.

"While I do not doubt that many of the doctors on your list are well qualified to deliver babies," she wrote in reply, "I am sure that there are

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Nixon Backs Some Viet Policies

SAIGON, Vietnam (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon gave some endorsement today to the Johnson administration's policies in South Vietnam.

Ending a two-day visit here, Nixon said there are three possible areas for debate on the policies.

1. "I believe our goal must be nothing less than victory," said Nixon. "As I understand it, this is the present attitude of the administration."

2. On the plan to achieve victory, Nixon said he would reserve judgment.

3. On the right men for the job, Nixon said he was favorably impressed.

Hoffa Aide Indicted On Bribe Charge

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A young man raised by James R. Hoffa has been indicted on charges of offering a $25,000 bribe to a member of the jury which convicted the Teamsters Union president of jury tampering.

O'Brien

Charles L. O'Brien, 29, business agent for a Detroit Teamster local, is accused of offering the money March 9 to Callie Key, a Negro widow, if she would swear Hoffa did not receive a fair trial.

O'Brien posted $15,000 bond and was released pending arraignment.

As a child, O'Brien was taken into Hoffa's home after his father, a Kansas City truck driver, was killed.

The alleged bribe offer took place five days after Hoffa was convicted here and three days before he was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000.

St. Augustine Tensions Ease

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Racial tensions appeared to ease today while a civil rights lawyer prepared to appeal a federal judge's refusal to take jurisdiction in the state's cases against demonstrators.

The lack of arrests yesterday apparently marked a temporary halt to demonstrations.

Police arrested 285 persons between last Saturday and Wednesday, mostly for violations of the state's trespass laws.

Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, 72, mother of Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, flew back to Boston today. She spent two days in jail on trespass charges and put up a $450 bond for her release.

Congressman Wants Oldsters Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—A first-term congressman who thinks there are too many old men running things in the House wants members barred from seeking re-election after 70.

Burkhalter

"A lot of these old men are in their dotage," said Rep. Everett G. Burkhalter (D-Calif.), yesterday.

Burkhalter, 67, is no pink-cheeked freshman. He had planned to cap a 20-year career in public life with three terms, but has become discouraged at bucking the seniority system he is retiring after this session.

"Nobody listens to what you have to say until you've been here 10 or 12 years," he said.

"There are only about 40 out of the 435 members who call the shots," he said. "They're the committee chairmen and the ranking members and they're all around 70 or 80."

He plans a bill that would lengthen the term of representatives from two years to four, limit them to four terms and bar them from seeking election after reaching 70.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Ailing astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. was put on convalescent leave by an Air Force hospital today and left for his home at Seabrook, Tex., near Houston. Glenn withdrew Tuesday from the U.S. Senate race in Ohio, where he was running in the Democratic primary. He hurt his head in a fall in the bathroom of his apartment in Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 26.

ARE THEY PALS AGAIN?

President Lyndon B. Johnson manages a grin but Sen. Everett Dirkson (R-Ill.), goes all out as he greets the chief executive at last night's annual dinner for White House photographers. Whatever the joke was, it was a private matter. However, this was the first time Johnson had seen the senate minority leader since Jan. 29 when they discussed the Panama crisis. The president has been reported miffed over Republican criticism of the administration's foreign policy. (AP Wirephoto)

Power Lines Are Defended By Seaborg

STANFORD (UPI)—The chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission added a little spark yesterday to the controversy over whether power lines for the Stanford linear accelerator should run underground or overhead.

AEC Chairman Glenn Seaborg told a news conference that the AEC was willing to consider any suggestions on how to finance an underground line—but that the government was going ahead with condemnation proceedings to acquire right-of-way for the overhead plan.

MANY PROTESTS

The line from Skyline Boulevard has caused a major furor among residents of communities through which it would pass.

They argue that an overhead line would deface one of the state's more scenic areas in San Mateo County, but the AEC maintains that an underground line would be too expensive.

Seabord noted yesterday that the furor has been raised over a total of only 13 proposed power poles along the entire five-mile route involved and that only five or six would be in Woodside, the community which has fought hardest against the plan.

PRESENT POLES

"There are already 500 power poles in Woodside," he said. "To spend millions of dollars to avoid 13 or 14 poles is wrong."

Seaborg emphasized that the poles the AEC plans to erect would be graceful, tubular modifications of the old-fashioned gantries used for high voltage lines.

He said he had just gone over the power line route with Mayor Donald J. Graham of Woodside and San Mateo County Manager E. Robert Stallings. He added that the new poles would require a minimum of tree-cutting.

Alaska Governor Seeks Quake Damage Funds

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Gov. William A. Egan today was to urge a joint session of the Legislature at Juneau to approve a 50-million-dollar emergency bond issue to help earthquake-torn Alaskan cities.

The amount is only a tenth of the estimated loss but, says Egan, it will show Alaska is willing to do everything possible to pull itself up by its bootstraps.

President Lyndon B. Johnson urged Congress to approve 50 million dollars in emergency funds quickly, and in Seattle, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, (D-Wash.) predicted eventual congressional approval of up to 200 million dollars.

Jackson, attending a meeting of 500 state and federal officials and Seattle businessmen, proposed a government-sponsored retroactive disaster insurance plan. He said the precedent of retroactive insurance was established during World War II when the government offered war-risk insurance to persons suffering property losses.

Alaska Sen. E. L. Bartlett told the meeting his state has an assessed valuation of 815 million dollars and damage, in terms of replacement costs, would amount to about 550 million dollars.

While others talked of money for the vast rehabilitation tasks, Alaskans continued to bring order out of chaos. Homes, shaken but liveable, were straightened and it was back to school for youngsters in many places.

Ousted Brazil President Flees; New Chief Executive Sworn

RIO DE JANEIRO, (AP) — Victorius army leaders of Brazil's anti-Communist revolution said deposed President Joao Goulart fled into Argentina today, but Argentine border officials said they had not seen the ousted leftist.

A spokesman said early today Goulart had left his ranch at Sao Borja, bound by car for Buenos Aires. Goulart was reported accompanied by his family and Gen. Assis Brasil, chief of his personal military staff.

Authorities in Argentine border provinces said, however, Goulart had not entered the country.

The military leaders of the swift, almost bloodless revolution, who charged that Goulart's leftist policies were leading Brazil into communism, sent six army officers to Sao Borja to arrest him if he remained at his ranch.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the United States is ready "to work very closely" with the new government of Brazil in tackling Brazil's difficult problems of economic and social development.

President Lyndon B. Johnson had sent a message to new Brazilian President Ranieri Mazzilli last night, congratulating him.

This established U.S. recognition of the new regime following the ouster.

Goulart, abandoning his vow to fight to the death, vanished yesterday after flying out of Porto Alegre. Informants said he gave up to prevent the bloodshed.

The deposed president had fled to the southern seaport, capital of his home state of Rio Grande de Sul, earlier in the day from Rio de Janeiro. Army troops were converging on Rio then in the last stages of the two-day revolution.

In Brasilia, the inland capital, President Mazzilli, president of the Chamber of Deputies, was sworn in as Goulart's constitutional successor by Congress yesterday.

Mazzilli, 54, a conservative politician, immediately set about forming a government to try to cope with Brazil's staggering budget deficit, rampant inflation, labor unrest and the need for profound social reform, especially land redistribution.

Two Burn To Death

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two small boys burned to death yesterday when they were trapped in a flaming, 20-foot square washroom behind a home here. The victims were Avelino Ralph Garcia Jr., 3, and Palm Hinnant Jr., 4. Firemen said the boys may have been playing with matches in the tiny structure.

Catholic Social Service Plan Is On Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission Monday will consider plans by the Catholic Social Service of Marin to locate new offices in the Los Ranchitos area.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of San Francisco has filed a request for a use permit to convert a home at 179 Ranchitos Road into an office building for the service, which now has an office at 1017 D Street, San Rafael.

OTHER ITEMS

The item is No. 26 on the agenda for Monday's meeting of the commission at the Civic Center, which will begin at 9 a.m.

The commission will also take a look at plans for the light industrial zoned area north of Novato recently approved for use by McGraw-Hill Book Co. as a distribution center.

The McGraw-Hill site covers 100 acres. Final action on the rezoning has not been completed by the county. The proposed zone requires a master plan for development and detailed building plan approval. The matter is item 43.

The commission will consider the Trestle Glen School site for the Reed School District as item 44.

CONTINUED PLANS

Among plans continued from the last meeting will be a request by Leon C. Felton for permission to establish a Volkswagen sales and service building at 920 Redwood Highway, Alto (items 31, 32 and 33).

Jane Smith has asked permission to operate a private swimming club at 2184 Novato Boulevard, near Novato (item 28).

Eichler Homes has asked permission to change the Marinwood master plan, trading areas set aside for apartments with others planned for a shopping center. This is item 37.

Joseph Martino is requesting approval of architectural plans for additions and alterations of Hilliard's Motel at 670 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley (item 21).

Hollis Will Ask Salary Increases

Readjustment in salaries of several staff members of the Marin County office of education, adding approximately $3,000 to the budget will be recommended by Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools to the county's board of education at 8 p.m. Monday.

The proposed changes were studied by a committee of board members with staff members, according to Hollis, and will be urged on the basis that increased responsibility merits an increase in salary.

An executive session to discuss employment of school personnel for the 1964-1965 school year is scheduled by the board.

The resignation of Mrs. Kathleen Williams, teacher for mentally retarded students at Lu Sutton School in Novato, will be considered also.

Also on a round the world flight, Joan Merriam of Long Beach hoped to leave Natal, Brazil, today for the 1,800-mile flight to Dakar, on the western bulge of Africa.

Search For Sausalito Slaying Suspects Leads To Florida

had used the name "Virgil W. Stevens."

Huck said he has a photograph of Jones but doubts if he fits the description of King's companion. "We're still trying to identify him," said Huck.

5. Late yesterday officer Ernest Brown boarded the Julia, the boat where Steven lived at Arques shipyard, through the skylight. Huck, Brown and other officers found a pair of silver cuff links which, said the chief, may have been Corbett's.

6. Aboard the Surfside One, across the pier from the Julia where King lived after the pair had a fight and split up, the officers retrieved an ice pick which may have been used to stab Corbett. The pick had been found Wednesday but officers did not take it then since its seizure was not covered by their original search warrant.

Also found yesterday on the Surfside One were a pair of cuff links and two carved jewelry boxes, believed to be Corbett's.

7. A white vanity case, found at the end of the pier under a broken-down sofa yesterday by reporters, contained a driver's license of Virgil W. Stevens of Broderick and a book of checks in the names of Nyle S. and Ruby Mickley of Vacaville.

8. "Steve" was linked to the February burglary of the Tomahawk Lodge near Novato. Ralph C. Briggs, who operates the lodge, reported to sheriff's officers late on Feb. 13 that a man who registered the previous night as "Virgil W. Stevens" had "cleaned out" his room of portable television set, mattress, bedding, towels, etc.

9. Huck said the pair also might be the same who robbed the manager of Harbor Liquor and Grocers in the Sabella building at 533 Redwood Highway, Alto, of $450 cash at gunpoint the night of March 25.

10. Reports were received that Corbett's credit card had been used in Miami. Officers theorized the pair, who had booked flight from Las Vegas to Los Angeles on Monday, had flown immediately from there to Miami.

11. The Federal Bureau of Investigation was asked to issue fugitive warrents for King and "Steve Stevens, Virgil Stevens or Steve Doe."

Huck said FBI and police were trying to get a more definite identification of "Steve."

Neighbors in the houseboat and ark area desribed "Steve" as a braggart who claimed he "owned a diamond mine in Southern California."

Upset for an additional reason was Mim, a Sausalito artist who let King "babysit" her black poodle, Toulouse, last weekend. The pair took the dog with them as far as Las Vegas, and left it at a dog boarding establishment there. It was still there today, with a $12.50 board bill.

LEFT FAR FROM HOME—Toulouse, the toy poodle which John L. King offered to "babysit" for Sausalito artist Mim, sits in doggie grooming parlor in Las Vegas, Nev., where he was left after King and companion abandoned rented car and took to air in flight from Sausalito murder investigation. There's a bill for $12.50 for boarding him. (AP Wirephoto)

Officer Mistaken For Police Chief

Officer Ernest Brown of Sausalito police was mistakenly identified as Police Chief Kenneth A. Huck in a photo identification in part of yesterday's Independent-Journal.

The photo showed Brown with paintings which had been stolen from the apartment of murdered Donald Glenn Gorbett Jr. and found in the houseboat apartment of John L. King, alias Jack Carpenter.

Both Huck and Brown have been working continuously on the case since Corbett's body was found last Monday.

The error in identification was corrected for a major portion of yesterday's edition.

some who are not as well qualified as Dr. Ascherman."

Mrs. Conway wrote that she is continuing to try to find a hospital which will let Ascherman deliver her child. "If I am not successful, I intend to present myself at Marin General Hospital when I am ready to deliver, and request that Dr. Ascherman be present. . . . I have been reading up on how to deliver my own baby, and if Dr. Ascherman is not permitted to deliver me, then I will have to deliver myself."

Ascherman has staff privileges only at Polyclinic Hospital in San Francisco, which has no obstetrical department.

Body Believed That Of Fisherman

A body, believed that of a 34-year-old Sonoma man drowned while fishing last Saturday, was washed onto the beach of Bolinas Bay today.

Marin County sheriff's officers said the body is believed to be that of Isaac T. Dirkson, swept away while wading across a channel at end of Maple Avenue at Duxbury Point. Deputies said Howard Wright notified them shortly before noon today that the body had been found.

The nation's last remaining crocodiles are found in the Everglades National Park in Florida.

RIFT

State Dean Rusk said today Russia's top priority concern over the split with Red China is probably a factor in delaying progress on Soviet-American problems.

Rusk told a news conference that except for some progress toward working out a consular agreement between Washington and Moscow, there has been no "great movement" toward settling the multitude of perilous issues which divide the world's two major powers.

Part of this stalemate, the secretary said, probably is due to Soviet "preoccupation" with the increasingly bitter feud between the militant Chinese reds and Khrushchev over the latter's policy of peaceful coexistence.

Khrushchev's speech came only hours after the Soviet Party newspaper Pravda called for a Communist summit meeting to discuss the Sino-Soviet dispute.

Pravda hit back at charges made by Peking this week that Khrushchev had abandoned communism in Russia, had capitulated to the capitalists abroad, and ought to be ousted.

Novatan's Lost Credit Card Is Being Used

A credit card lost at a Novato carnival on March 9 has been used in Northern and Central California, Standard Oil Co. of California reported yesterday to Novato police.

Robert E. Willey of 1365 Denlyn Street, Novato, reported he lost the card at the Fun Fair shows at the Novato Fair Shopping Center. It has been used in the Fresno and Hayward areas for purchases totaling about $100, the oil company reported.

STEVENS

"But then he seemed to lose his temper all of a sudden."

He ordered Stevens to drive to the outskirts of town. Then he pulled out a .45-caliber automatic and forced the driver to remove his shoes and coat. He took a $200 diamond wedding ring and Stevens' wallet with $110 and credit cards and identification.

Then he ordered Stevens to lie down in a ditch near a river levee. The man stood over the driver with the gun in his hand.

"My husband knew then that he was going to be killed," Mrs. Stevens said.

But no shot was fired. A car came down the lonely road and frightened the man away. He jumped in the cab and drove off, but the cab stalled before he had gone far. The man got out and ran. Stevens saw another passing car stop and pick the man up.

That was the last the frightened cab driver saw of the man, but there were a few 'round-about clues that followed.

The Stevenses received two bills on their oil company credit cards from Houston, Tex., one for $22 and one for $12. The cards, however, had been canceled and the bills do not have to be paid.

Stevens guessed the man was 27 years old. He said he was five feet, 11 inches tall, dark complexioned with blondish-brown hair. He weighed about 170 pounds.

"My husband's lucky to be alive," Mrs. Stevens said. "He realizes that now."

The Stevenses, who live in Broderick, Yolo County, own and operate the East Yolo Taxi Co. with a fleet of six cars.

Also in the cosmetics case found at the houseboat was a book of blank checks on the Vaca Valley Bank for the account of Nyles S. Mickley Jr. and Ruby B. Mickley of Vacaville.

The Mickley home was entered about noon March 6, and $800 worth of loot, including a tape recorder, radio and cameras were taken, plus credit cards.

Vacaville police found witnesses who said two men left the front door of the home carrying two suitcases, evidently loaded with loot. Two witnesses identified one of the men as John L. King, who lived in Vacaville for about seven months until November, 1963.

King later pawned a tape recorder, radio and cameras at a Fairfield pawn shop. Vacaville police issued a warrant for his arrest.

Vacaville police also reported that Mickley and King had met earlier in a local bar.

Since the burglary, Mickley's credit cards have been used in Sacramento, San Francisco, Vallejo and San Rafael, Vacaville police said.

Witnesses said the two men drove away from the Mickley home in a four-door 1962 model car, possibly a Pontiac or Oldsmobile. It had white license plates with black numbers on them. Texas plates are white with black numbers.

A Pontiac, stolen in Texas, has been found abandoned on the Sausalito waterfront by Sausalito police. It contained loot from the Corbett apartment.

Easing Of State Law Is Sought

By BILL BOYARSKI

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Abortion is an ugly word to most people, synonymous with an illegal operation performed by an incompetent in a back room.

But to many Californians, it means hope for women doomed by disease or drugs to bear deformed children. And it's a method, they say, of ending an unwanted pregnancy caused by rape or incest.

The California Medical Assn. and the public health department have asked for a relaxation of the state ban against abortions.

More recently, the 70,000 member California Democratic Council, the party's powerful volunteer arm, gave its support to the movement.

Throughout the state, women's clubs, church groups and other organizations are discussing the proposed humane abortion act, now under study by a legislative committee.

Debate was intensified by the story of Mrs. Sherry Finkbine, the Phoenix, Ariz., woman who had taken a tranquilizer which was blamed for deformities in unborn children. She flew to Sweden for an operation after hospitals in this country refused.

The proposed California legislation, introduced by Assemblyman Anthony C. Beilenson, Democratic Beverly Hills lawyer, would allow physicians to perform therapeutic abortions where continuation of the pregnancy "involves substantial risk that mother or child will suffer grave impairment of physical or mental health."

Pregnancies resulting from rape or incest also could be terminated—if a court decides such a crime has been committed.

Any abortion would have to be approved by a hospital's therapeutic abortion committee, composed of obstetricians, pediatricians, internists and psychiatrists.

But the legislature has shown no sign of changing the present law, which prohibits abortions unless they are needed to save the life of the mother.

Leading the opposition is the Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Timothy O'Brien, director of the Catholic Conference of Catholic Hospitals, warned legislators against passing laws "which are contrary to the laws of nature."

If the fetus is merely an inconsequential blob or protoplasm to the State Legislature, it appears in the same light to the people," he said.

Replies Beilenson:

"Let me suggest that, tragically, too often in the name of saving a deformed or deficient fetus from 'murder' we are murdering the mother."

The State Public Health Department says the bill is needed to cut down the death and injury toll from illegal abortions. Last year, such operations killed about 20 women in the state.

BUDGET

Gnoss and Bruce. Money was included with the assumption a fourth judge would be added to the superior court on Jan. 1.

The additional judge would call for an increase of one legal clerk and more extra hire funds. Some $3,000 was set aside for the new judge's books and a similar amount for furniture. Money will also be placed in the public works budget for remodeling the courthouse to create another courtroom.

In a review of the fire department, no new position was added, but a program of replacing trucks on a 20-year rotation basis was established for recommendation to the supervisors.

ERNEST C. ZUNINO
Joins D. A.'s staff

New Deputy Attorney Is Named

Ernest C. Zunino, 32, work furlough officer in the Marin County Probation Department for six years, will become a deputy district attorney on April 15.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, who will succeed Roger Garety as district attorney on April 15, announced the appointment of Zunino today. The new deputy prosecutor will get a starting pay of $580 per month.

"With his background and educational accomplishments, Mr. Zunino will be a fine addition to the staff," Bales said.

Zunino won his law degree from University of San Francisco last June. He lives at 131 Marinda Drive, Fairfax, with his wife and child.

He has degrees in psychology and criminology from the University of California School of Criminology.

In February of 1958, he joined the Marin County Probation Department and organized the work furlough program, the first of its kind administered by the probation department in the state. He also developed a county parole program.

Zunino has also been active in conducting polygraph examinations (lie detector tests) for various county law enforcement agencies.

"I am looking forward to the change with a great deal of enthusiasm," said Zunino.

Bales will become district attorney when Garety's resignation takes effect April 15.

Another deputy district attorney, Charles L. Convis, will also resign on April 30 to go into private practice.

Bridge Board Seeks Suicide Study Legality

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District officials today asked legal counsel Jerome B. White whether authorizing a $6,850 study of suicides from the Golden Gate Bridge would be legal.

The bridge district security committee acted after heated discussion of a proposal by Dr. Robert A. Kimmich, program chief of the San Francisco Community Mental Health Services, to conduct a four-month study to begin this month.

Speaking for the proposal, board president Ben J. Lerer of San Francisco said a recent meeting of the bridge finance committee with psychiatrists brought the opinion that of persons saved from jumping from the bridge, a good many could live normal lives if given psychiatric help.

In opposition, director Dan E. London of San Francisco said the big bridge at Sydney, Australia, had high rails and barbed wire which he understood was electrified.

"There have been no suicides from the bridge," London said. "They've just gone to a nearby suicide point and jumped."

London thought an engineering study of possible physical deterrents should be made. He disagreed with Lerer that the psychiatric study should come first.

Attorney White gave as his "offhand opinion" that "there is very serious doubt that the study would be a proper way to spend district money. It would be hypothetical evidence and a far cry from the purpose for which this district was created."

Lerer suggested White give his opinion in writing. The matter was continued to the next security committee meeting, date to be set.

PROGRESS REPORT

4th Court Soon, Bagley Asserts

By WAT TAKESHITA

Approval of a fourth superior court for Marin County, rejected last year, is "just about assured" this year, Assemblyman William T. Bagley reported in Sacramento this week.

A rapid transit district bill, which was vetoed by the governor last year, is also likely to pass this time. City opposition to certain provisions of the bill came as a surprise to the Assemblyman.

If the cities in Marin and the county can agree on the various provisions, there is a good chance that the measure will be approved this year.

Here is a progress report on the major legislation sponsored by Bagley this year:

Fourth superior court—With the approval of Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson, the measure is "just about assured" of passage, Bagley said. The measure was heard this week by the Senate government efficiency committee.

Marin Transit District—Assemblyman Bagley and co-author Sen. John F. McCarthy were waiting for a hearing date to be set by a Senate committee. Amendments are still possible during the Senate hearings.

Court reporters pay — The measure would raise the pay from the present $35 per day to $43 per day. (The original bill called for a raise to $45, but this was amended by the Assembly Judiciary Committee to $43 to conform with the San Francisco pay scale.)

Land swap on Gallinas Creek—Bagley foresees smooth sailing for this bill. The measure calls for the county to swap about one-third acre of land with the state to straighten a curve in Gallinas Creek as it approaches the Civic Center lagoon.

The Senate government efficiency committee is scheduled to hear this matter on Wednesday, April 8. A similar bill was vetoed last year because the Governor thought the project would involve filling of tidelands.

Inheritance tax appraisers—Assemblyman Bagley's bill would put inheritance tax appraisers under civil service instead of having the state controller appoint them. The bill would not go into effect until the incumbent controller, Alan Cranston, leaves office. This bill is scheduled for hearing before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee on Monday.

Purity of elections—The bill would require all campaign contributions of $75 or more to be specifically listed. Present law requires lists of names of contributors and totals received but does not require a report of how much a particular person contributed.

A similar bill last year got nowhere under the Assembly's Democratic leadership. This year, the bill has been assigned to the Rules Committee for an "interim study."

However, funds are needed for the study, and the speaker of the Assembly decides which items deserve funds. Assemblyman Bagley said he doubts that any funds will be appropriated for this study.

School finances—"I can't see any progress being made toward any meaningful amount of money for state education," Assemblyman Bagley asserted. "From my own personal point of view, I would expect that we will again demand to see what is being finally proposed in new state money for school support before we vote on the entire budget."

San Anselmo Man, 84, Is Taken To Hospital

Lloyd Elgin, 84, of 61 Yolanda Drive, San Anselmo, was taken to Marin General Hospital yesterday after he suffered a possible stroke and had difficulty breathing at his home.

Elgin was reported in fair condition at the hospital today. San Anselmo firemen gave him resuscitator aid before he was taken to the hospital.

Rotarians Sending Funds To Wave Victims

The Sausalito Rotary Club voted yesterday to send a check for $1,000 to the Crescent City Rotary Club to be used to help people who were caught in the tidal wave disaster there March 27.

President Peder Thorsfeldt reported that Robert Swanson, president of the Rotary Club in Crescent City, said many Rotarians suffered serious loss. He said 42 members voted to contribute the money.

Mediation Bid Held Off By Rights Group

Members of the Marin County Human Rights Commission decided last night to hold off on an offer to mediate the dispute between the Congress of Racial Equality and Ted Gibson Realty of Mill Valley, at least for the time being.

The group agreed that the dispute, which has seen CORE pickets in front of the realty office for several weeks, is a public matter, which the commission can take a hand in. No formal request for mediation has yet been made, however, it was noted.

The commission appointed task force chairmen to investigate five areas of interest for the commission and make recommendations.

Mrs. Alexander McAndrews of Ross was named head of the employment task force, Mrs. Iniece Bailey of Tamalpais Valley will lead the education task force; Freeman D. Blake, Fairfax city councilman, will head the recreation unit; Harold J. Truett of San Anselmo, will lead the public accommodations unit, and Dr. Richard S. Hahn of Belvedere will lead the housing force.

Governor Likely To Reject GOP For Action Against Crime Rise

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Brown administration indicated today that it's likely to refuse Assembly Republicans' demands for legislative action this year on anti-crime proposals.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, himself, didn't comment immediately on the GOP's unexpected injection of the crime issue into a session marked so far by complex arguments over school finance, bonds and tidelands oil revenue.

But his legislative secretary, Paul Ward, had this to say:

"It is safe to say that we have met with the leadership of both the Senate and the Assembly and gone over special session items before and after the governor issued his proclamation and they saw no reason to go into subjects which have been previously rehashed by almost every session."

With the legislature away on another three-day weekend, deadlock was still the word of the day in the Capitol.

Republicans in the Assembly appeared to have another reason for refusing to vote for Brown's 3.67-billion-dollar budget. They said they might continue to block final approval until they see the final terms of this year's school finance bill.

The GOP brought up its demand for immediate action on "a crime epidemic in California" at a news conference yesterday. Without citing the source of its figures, the Assembly Republican caucus charged that the state's crime rate had increased by 100 per cent since 1954.

"The Republican caucus is trying to sow some partisan wheat in anticipation of a November harvest," replied Chairman Gordon H. Winton Jr. (D-Merced) of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

He said he's "rather aghast and very much opposed to placing on special call" any crime matter.

"If we had an item like this on special call, we might be here until Christmas trying to resolve some of the differences," he said.

Winton disagreed with the Republican crime statistics and cited a report of the State Bureau of Criminal Statistics showing the crime rate increased about 60 per cent between 1954 and 1960.

Water Color Classes Starting In Marin

Water color classes for beginners and advanced painters will be held April 11 and 12 in the Greenbrae, San Rafael and McNear's Point areas with Richard Yip, art professor at Stockton College and Stanislaus State College at Turlock, instructing.

Yip, formerly of Sausalito, teaches both the traditional and modern approaches to painting with watercolor. Enrollment for the classes may be made with Mae Ralston, director, of Fairfax.

The billowing emission from an erupting volcano is not smoke but seam. The vapor's dark color is caused by volcanic ash.

Second Crossing Hinges On State Gate Span Control

Gov. Edmund G. Brown favors state take-over of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District prior to construction of a second bridge from San Francisco to Marin.

He told about 100 persons at a State Toll Bridge Authority hearing in San Francisco yesterday that he thought the second crossing could be financed if the state authority took over the Golden Gate Bridge from the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District which now owns and operates it.

Most of yesterday's discussion centered on the merits of two proposed crossings south of the present Bay Bridge. Brown told newsmen, however, that he thought a second Marin crossing should be given top priority.

"We're ready to move on this . . . but not necessarily today." Brown said.

Eight out of every 10 single, detached homes built in the United States in 1963 were of frame construction. A five-room frame house, for instance, uses about 9,500 board feet of lumber plus 1,700 square feet of plywood.

WE BELIEVE . . .

A great majority of the citizens of Marin County agree with us that no retail merchant can justify a policy specifying a 7-day-open-for-business, unless his wares are sufficiently basic that closing on Sundays would create hardship.

An issue like closing on Sundays is a matter for voluntary agreement, rather than for compulsory action by law or any other pressures.

An agreement voluntarily made to close on Sundays deserves the respect of each and every party to that agreement. To rationalize a disavowal of this agreement with a contention any other agreement or statement is still respected, is illogical.

The agreement of the members of the Marin County Automobile Dealers' Association to remain closed on Sundays, to permit our employees a day for worship or relaxation as may be their wont, is logical. Approval for opening certain Sundays for special events and new model introductions, contained in our agreement, provides sufficient latitude for a successful operation of our businesses.

We shall resist strenuously any concerted action to force opening on Sundays.

The announcement of his first place award in the San Francisco Bay Area Science Fair was made last night in San Francisco.

Young Scientist Wins Top Bay Award Again

For the second, consecutive year, Lon Masouredis, a Terra Linda High School freshman, won the highest award presented to Marin County junior scientists last night at the San Francisco Bay Area Science Fair in San Francisco.

The young scientist, son of Dr. and Mrs. Serafeim P. Masouredis of 9 De Anza Way, Los Ranchitos, won second prize in the Bay Area fair last year, the highest honor won in 1963 by a Marin County student.

He received the grand award in physical science exhibits for seventh and eighth graders at last year's Marin County schools Science Fair and the grand award in biological sciences at last month's County Science Fair.

Other Marin County winners in the Bay Area fair which were announced last night were:

Someone ransacked the home of Dr. Alex Miller at 67 Lochinvar Road, San Rafael, last night and took $250 in cash, five bank books and two credit cards, according to San Rafael police.

Dr. Miller reported the burglary at 11 p.m. after he discovered a rear window had been pried open and the master bedroom and adjoining study ransacked.

The cash, in $10 and $20 bills, was taken from Dr. Miller's wallet in a dresser drawer. Two dressers in the bedroom and a desk in the study were ransacked, police said.

Sleepy Hollow Home Assn. Approves Budget Of $13,000

The board of directors of the Sleepy Hollow Home Owners Assn. last night approved a budget of about $13,000 for the coming fiscal year, President Roland L. Hauck Jr. said today.

The budget, which is expected to be ratified by the general membership of the association at its quarterly meeting April 16, includes operational costs of a heater to be installed for the association's swimming pool, Hauck said.

A fair to raise funds for construction of a new building, storage room and other improvements will be held in September. Mr. and Mrs. James Kephart of 111 Sleepy Hollow Drive were named chairmen for the event.

Plans for a dance to celebrate completion of the new addition to the clubhouse to be held in May, also were discussed.

The U.S. Bagmen Should Be Happy

Last Meeting Is Held At TamClubhouse

About 50 persons turned out last night for last meeting of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club in its 43-year-old clubhouse at 409 Maple Avenue, to be torn down for the Coyote Creek Flood Control project.

The next meeting, at 8 p.m. May 7, will be held in Kenny Hall of the Community Church at Ash and Maple avenues, it was announced.

Ray Truman, chairman of the building committee, asked for donations of any clean fill that might be dumped on the club's Bell Lane property, a marshland, in event the club decides to build a new clubhouse there.

The old clubhouse was built with volunteer labor and about $1,000 worth of lumber in 1921 after members earlier had met in each other's homes. The interior was not finished until some time later, with funds raised by dances.

It was through the efforts of TVIC members through the years that street lights were put in the area and a sanitary district and fire district were created, recalled vice president Midge Hamburg.

Last night the regular monthly membership meeting heard a request by Roger Bucholtz, representing the Tamalpais Valley Teen Club, for approval to hold dances in Almonte Hall, with TVIC continuing to sponsor and chaperon the events.

At the TVIC's next meeting, the teeners will turn over $200 in proceeds from the dances to the club, reported young Buckholtz. The youngsters are retaining $150 as a reserve, he said.

Two of the three candidates for two vacancies on the Tamalpais Fire District board in next Tuesday's elections spoke: Byron Boulware and Oscar Durand. Incumbent director John G. Donhoff was out of the county.

Americans were photographed for the first time on their own soil in 1839 when inventor Samuel Morse made the first pictures with photographic equipment he brought from Paris.

Owners Of Damaged Boats Offered Free Aid In Claims

Owners of boats damaged in the tidal wave which followed the Alaska earthquake of March 27 were offered free help today in settling insurance claims.

The Boating Assn. of America in San Francisco, through its president, Kenneth S. Hoyt Jr., offered assistance to all boat owners, whether or not they are association members.

Many have been confused by conflicting reports as to whether the damage to their boats is covered under various insurance policies, said Hoyt.

He said any boat owner desiring assistance could telephone the association's Northern California headquarters in San Francisco or call in person at 2525 Van Ness Avenue.

Juanita Still Living In County But Working On Move To Sonoma

More than one person has been under the impression that Juanita Musson has been up in El Verano, Sonoma County — and several have made a point of trying to find her in that area.

The fact is, Juanita has never given up her residence in Marin. She still lives in Sausalito, and most nights is still at Sally's Valhalla Inn which recently celebrated its 15th anniversary.

Juanita's proposed restaurant in El Verano won't be ready until May or June. It's a grocery store that's being converted into an eating house. There is more work to be done and more equipment to be added. She makes frequent trips there in Sally Stanford's pick-up truck, attending to both details.

It's bound to be called Juanita's something - or - other. Not "Galley," certainly. That fitted the Sausalito waterfront, but something more appropriate is needed for El Verano. Perhaps you can come up with a suggestion or two. The place is right across from "Little Switzerland" and not far from the Sonoma Country Club, which caused Juanita to give some thought to calling it Juanita's 19th Hole — but she's not entirely sold on it.

While writing this I just had a thought of my own — Juanita's Black Sheep — or would that be likely to lead into something? She did mention that Sally had given her a black sheep from her ranch.

Whatever she decides—it's a good thing she didn't follow up her original idea of a few months ago of going to Alaska.

CHRISTOPHER'S COFFEE HOUSE at 38 Main Street, Tiburon, is being sold by Chris Tassos to Ernest and Rose Kaplan who are remodeling and repainting and will reopen about the middle of the month as Kappies.

The Kaplans formerly had a place in Hermosa Beach and intend to make this one somewhat similar — with fancy sandwiches and hot food for lunches, and regular dinners. They'll be open everyday except Monday. One reason they landed in Marin is a daughter, Mrs. Frank Russo of Mill Valley.

Chris Tassos is negotiating for another type of business entirely and, as far as we know, intends to continue living in Tiburon.

RIGHT ACROSS the street, there's an unsolved mystery at Tiburon Tommie's Mai Tai that has everyone baffled, according to the diminutive maitre d', Leon Chevalley.

Leon says he's seen everything in his time but nothing to compare with one object that's still unclaimed—a wheel chair!

Seems a dinner group walked in the place on night, led by someone in a wheel chair, not unusual in itself. BUT when the party was over and everyone had gone home, the wheel chair was still there —and still is.

Just to add to the mystery—on Friday the 13th, Leon had a bad fall, shattering one ankle and sending him to the emergency hospital for cast and crutches.

What's the name of that TV program that develops situations like this?

ALL THROUGH APRIL, the Novato Art Guild has a display of paintings at Neville's on the Boardwalk, Belvedere — 20 or more of them, and some other art objects as well. On May 2 and 3 the entire Novato Art Guild membership of 38 will put on an "art in action" show on the Boardwalk. You'll be able to look over their shoulders while they work.

I HAVE BEEN ASKED by a number of people if the Emporium will have a restaurant when it opens in the Northgate Regional Shopping Center next July. The answer, I am assured, is in the negative. The store does intend having automatic food vending equipment for its employees — but probably only until such time as other restaurant facilities in Northgate are considered adequate. Lin Fa Gardens, of course is already in Unit 1 and another barbecue-type restaurant has been proposed for Unit 2 in about a year from now.

THE ROAMIN' CHARIOT, restaurant enterprise of Don and Bill Kelly at 866 Grant Avenue, Novato, has gone into a "food — hot to your door" deal. Phone and ask them about it. This is the former Patio Grill.

A FAVORITE at Ramona's in San Rafael is the "sopapia" (pronounced sopa-peeah, with the accent on the last part). This is a deep fried tortilla that puffs up—and can be eaten sweetened with honey or however you like it. It's popular in the state of New Mexico, and strictly speaking is not an Old Mexico dish.

Also popular at Ramona's are Juan y Maria, still singing and playing on weekends while you eat.

BY POPULAR DEMAND it says here, Alioto's Arbordale in Sausalito is now open seven days a week. It was formerly closed Mondays. Must be that Maurice Guridi has a new recipe or two and needs an extra day to show them off. He already serves doubles.

Al Gallagher plays the piano Tuesday through Thursday nights; Johnny Cutlip plays and sings Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

SABELLA'S retail store has one "live" tank filled with crabs to take home. Another one's to be installed for live lobsters.

Two hundred and fifty miles east of Lima, Peru, lies an area of the lofty Cordillera Vilcabamba, so rugged and inaccessible that it is a geographical mystery. There is no town, no airfield, no road in thousands of square miles.

2nd Chamber Concert Set For Tuesday

Second concert in the new chamber music concert artist series of Dominican College will be presented Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Pennafort Hall on the college campus in San Rafael.

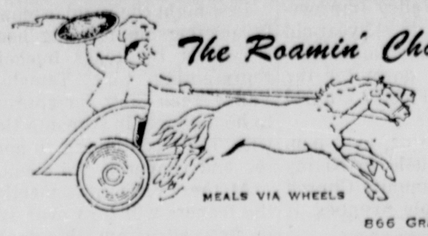

Featured will be a group of artists heard frequently in the Bay Area: Soprano Gwen Curatilo, cellist Bonnie Hampton, clarinetist Norman Masonson and pianist Nathan Schwartz.

The new series, instead of being given in Angelico Hall primarily for students, is planned to appeal especially to connoisseurs of music.

First part of the program will consist of Schubert's "Der Hirt auf dem Felsen" for soprano, clarinet and piano; Debussy's "Petite Piece for Clarinet"; "Caprice for Clarinet," Milhaud; "Non Piu d'Amore," Falconieri; "Ahi! Troppo e Duro," Monteverdi, and "Wie Melodien zieht es mir immer leiser wird mein Schlummer Vergebliches Standchen" by Brahms.

Closing the program after an intermission will be Brahms' Trio Opus 114 in A Minor.

High School Constitution Vote Monday

Students at Terra Linda High School will vote Monday on a new constitution for student government, designed to streamline operations by cutting the size of the student council.

The revision would also provide for election of student officers once a year, rather than once a semester.

Proponents of the revisions say they would increase autonomy and responsibility for the students.

Officers on the student council would have specific duties spelled out in the constitution.

Girl Student Wins College Scholarship

Kathleen Welch, former Fairfax student, has won a four-year scholarship to College of the Holy Names, Oakland.

Kathleen, once a student at Marin Catholic High School, moved to Redding with her family two years ago. She now attends Shasta High School in Redding.

Ousted Marin Deputy New Belvedere Officer

William N. McKillop, 38, fired Marin County sheriff's deputy who on March 16 dropped an appeal before the county personnel commission, began new duties Wednesday night as patrolman with the Belvedere Police Department.

Police Chief William S. Woodington said McKillop replaced Donald Mansfield, who has moved back to Kern County, and is on a regular three-month probationary period. He said McKillop will move to the Tiburon Peninsula shortly with his family.

McKillop was fired by Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos Feb. 5 for "conduct unbecoming an officer." McKillop was accused of brandishing a gun while off duty in a San Rafael bar, but said he was "framed" and retained an attorney, William J. Murphy, for an appeal.

On March 16, however, he submitted a letter to Sheriff Mountanos which said, "After very careful consideration, I hereby wish to tender my resignation as deputy sheriff."

Another deputy, George Johnsen, was discharged at the same time for allegedly striking a man in custody of San Rafael police. His appeal is now being heard by the county personnel commission.

Senate Unit Passes Crescent City Funds

SACRAMENTO, (AP) — A 3.75-million-dollar increase to the state emergency fund that includes one million dollars to relieve Crescent City was approved yesterday by the Senate finance committee.

The new money raises the fund level to 4.75 million dollars, since one million dollars was appropriated in the 1963 budget for emergencies.

Firemen Study Tiburon Area

The Stone Tower Apartments on Paradise Drive were studied Wednesday night by Tiburon volunteer firemen in another in the series of pre-fire planning conferences.

Inspections and pre-fire planning conferences have already been held for the Corinthian Yacht Club, homes on Corinthian Island, and apartments behind the book store on Main Street, according to Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher.

These conferences take place in large city fire departments, said Buscher, but are not normally held by volunteer firemen.

The firemen voted to donate $125 to the Little League from funds raised from dues and an annual dance.

Dismissed Sheriff's Deputy Says He Hit In Self Defense

Deputy Sheriff George Johnsen, 33, accused of hitting a man who was in custody of San Rafael police, testified yesterday he struck only in self defense and only because the other man had grabbed him first and threatened to hit him.

Johnsen, who was formerly a professional prize fighter under the name Irish George Sullivan, took the stand in his own defense before the Marin County Personnel Commission.

Fired for "conduct unbecoming an officer," he appealed the decision to the personnel commission.

The commission, headed by chairman Julius Selinger, completed hearing testimony and took the matter under submission. Selinger said a decision will be coming within two weeks.

The incident occurred on the night of Jan. 28 at King Cotton Restaurant. Deputy Sheriff Johnsen said he had just been released from the hospital for a whiplash and head injuries suffered in an automobile accident. A waitress asked him to calm a "drunk" causing a disturbance.

The man turned out to be Charles Farmer, 30, a Stockton house painter, who had come to see his estranged wife, Penny, who lives in San Rafael. Farmer and Deputy Johnsen had been in a fight about two years before.

"He jumped off the stool and charged at me," said Johnsen. "He grabbed me by the lapel and raised his left hand as if to strike. I struck back almost as a reflex, only to defend myself."

Because of his injuries, Johnsen said he could not move about freely, and his only recourse was to hit back at once to ward off the attack.

Johnsen repeated that he did not hit Farmer when Farmer was being held by Sgt. James W. Carlton of San Rafael police. Carlton testified earlier that Johnsen had hit Farmer a half-dozen times while Carlton had a full Nelson hold on Farmer.

Mrs. Penny Farmer confirmed Deputy Johnsen's testimony. She said her husband was not under full control of San Rafael police, and Johnsen struck only after her husband grabbed the deputy. She said her husband was "very belligerent and drunk," and butted the deputy even after San Rafale police had grabbed him.

Several other witnesses in the restaurant, however, backed up Sergeant Carlton's account.

Farmer admitted he later pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and battery.

Patrick (Butch) Hallinan, attorney for Deputy Johnsen, argued that Johnsen had a spotless record as deputy sheriff for two and one-half years. Pleading for Johnsen's reinstatement, Hallinan said:

"To deprive Marin of Mr. Johnsen's character and dedication will be a slander and a slur on the County of Marin."

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos acknowledged that up to the time of this incident, he had no occasion to reprimand Johnsen.

In fact, the sheriff had commended Johnsen for his work, especially when Johnsen risked his life to help shoot down an armed robber near Corte Madera two years ago. Johnsen was also one of two deputies who took on a gang of ruffians at Juanita's Gallery about a year ago.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney argued that Johnsen had used more force than necessary against Farmer, and that the sheriff was fully within his rights in dismissing the deputy.

Carthage, one of the great cities of the ancient world, had a peak population of a million inhabitants more than three centuries before Christ.

Doctor Files For Unified School Race

Dr. William L. Clark, president of the Mill Valley School District board, filed candidacy papers yesterday for trustee of the proposed Tamalpais Unified School District.

Clark, an orthopedic surgeon, has been on the school board in Mill Valley three years and has lived in the area 11 years.

His home is at 38 South Knoll Road, Strawberry. This address puts him in the Tiburon area trustee district, so he will be opposing Mrs. Marilyn C. Steinau for the seat on the unified district board if the district formation is approved June 2.

Clark has three children attending schools in the Mill Valley district.

Clark said today he strongly supports the proposed unification plan. He also predicted that if the unification fails, the state can be expected to force unification in an even larger district, perhaps countywide.

Contract For Sewer Lines Is Delayed

Award of a contract for laying new sewer lines in San Rafael's Second Street from E Street to the Francisco Boulevard pumping station was delayed by the San Rafael Sanitation District board yesterday after opening of nine bids.

Apparent low bidder was Bepco, Inc., of Oakland at $72,903.50, slightly over the engineer's estimate of $71,044. Other bids ranged to a high of $122,129.90.

Norris Rawles, city director of public works, asked delay of the contract award until all figures in the low bid are checked.

The work involves installing 21-inch and 27-inch lines to replace the present 15-inch and 18-inch lines.

The whole county...in focus

It's a most unusual lens, the I-J. Look through it and you "see" all of Marin County . . . all the events of today, up close, in clear focus.

This full image of county news is due not to random reporting but to carefully planned coverage from our four Marin offices. Most of the stories are original—searched out and written by I-J newsmen with an eye for accuracy and an intimate knowledge of the local scene.

No matter where you live in Marin, you will find "your" area reported in depth. Yet, page by page, your view is expanded to the entire county. Which brings you in focus with the total community and with the events which change it—and change you—each day.

We start with blank paper each morning. By evening the whole galaxy of news, of photographs, advertisements is before you.

Where can you see so much, each night, for just $1.50 per month?

1,260,000 pages daily!

- I-J coverage of Marin homes is so extensive that today our press run is averaging 1,260,000 pages daily.

Smoking Issue Creeps Into Matter Of School Bonds

A smoking issue has crept into the matter of bond issues for school construction. And true to the old adage about where there's smoke there's fire, it can break into real combustion, should the issue get before one or both houses at the current special session of the Legislature.

As the Legislature convened in special session this week—following failure to adopt a budget at the Budget Session—Assemblyman Burt Henson, Ventura, presented a measure to raise the present State cigarette tax from three cents to seven cents a pack. He envisions its bringing in nearly $100 million yearly toward "pay-as-you-go" financing of school construction.

Some harried legislators see in this the answer to sharply rising bonded indebtedness, with increasing interest load. Others might look at the plan as a means of saving the lives of cigarette smokers.

But the cigarette smokers — and manufacturers and dispensers—do not share the same viewpoint. Already, there is murmuring of over-discrimination in taxation and a confiscatory trend. There will be no replica of the Boston Tea Party, of course—but look for lots of smoke.

And this being springtime, with idle daydreams, what would the result be, should such a measure become a law? Would cigarettes be bought by many as a prestige symbol? Or would there be surreptitious dealings as in Prohibition days, with private parties peddling fags they brought in from states without such a high cigarette tax rate?

Some say it will cause no lessening of cigarette smoking — the compulsive smokers either returning to the old Western custom of rolling one's own, or justifying their paying the higher tax on the ground that by doing so, they would be furthering the interests of Education; the more they puff, the more money to build schools—and any life-lengthening that might come from reduced or discontinued smoking would in the long run mean more people living to grow extremely old, and maybe requiring public assistance.

Anyhow, Henson's seven-cent tax proposal classifies as "an experiment, noble purpose"—and its course through the Special Session will engender interest.

The Voice Of The Quail

In some parts of the country spring is heralded by the famed voice of the turtle dove—a low-pitched, mournful crooning. But with spring in Marin the voice of the quail is on the land.

This is the beginning of their mating season and the males are laying claim to their own particular patch of ground. They almost seem to be saying, "This is mine. This is mine." And the answering cry from up the hill, "Look out, there! This is mine!"

Like most birds, quail have a keen sense of territory rights and will fight others of the same species to protect them. But they'd rather sing out a warning and yell for joy of their possession than do battle.

Quail are nice people.

Fusselman Dismisses Debate Offer With Tongue In Cheek

By WAT TAKESHITA

TAKESHITA

SUPERVISOR CANDIDATE Ernest Kettenhofen's challenge to debate his two opponents in any open forum is getting the brushoff, at least from incumbent William Fusselman.

Big Bill Fusselman came back with his tongue-in-cheek reply:

"I noticed with considerable interest that promoter Watkin (Harold Watkin, chairman for Kettenhofen) plans to arrange some bouts for his boy. Inasmuch as the two gentlemen who have filed (Kettenhofen and Jesse J. France Jr.) are challenging the incumbent, I wish to make this statement:

"I BELIEVE they should debate between themselves first, and then I'll be happy to debate the winner."

Fusselman didn't elaborate. But this, in effect, is what Big Bill is saying: "Look, boys, I'm the recognized title holder. If you fellas wanna challenge me, you'd better have some elimination bouts first, and then the winner can have a crack at the crown."

REPUBLICANS are trying to read the worst into Pierre Salinger's sudden entry into the U. S. Senate race.

They are speculating out loud that President Lyndon B. Johnson must have sent Salinger into the California race to sabotage the GOP nominees at a crucial time—a time when Rockefeller and Goldwater need publicity instead of having Pierre steal all the headlines.

MARIN'S TEEN - AGED Democrats take their politics quite seriously, and are apparently plagued by factional disputes just like the adult organization.

Last week, President Bob Black of the Marin Young Democrats indicated his group had voted 9 to 8 not to endorse Pierre Salinger for U. S. Senate. But other members of the teen-age organization contend that this was not true.

WE HAVE A letter from eight members of the group who say that "Marin Young Democrats are in favor of Salinger's candidacy." The letter alleges that their president failed to complete the voting procedure on the motion for Salinger and declared the motion defeated. They claim they protested, but the president "illegally adjourned the meeting."

Sounds like a miniature version of Fresno or Long Beach. At the rate they're going, they ought to make "fighting delegates" at any convention in a few more years.

BARRY Goldwater Jr. is almost a spitting image of the senator. Both young Barry and his brother Mike looked quite sedate, sitting at the head table at the Sheraton-Palace dinner Tuesday night.

But you can tell they're a fun - loving group. Young Barry was introduced first, then sat down. When Mike got up, Barry quietly pulled the chair away. Good thing Mike looked before he sat down again.

Arch Foe Deplores Tunnel Vision Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Golden Gate Bridge was designed and engineered by men of vision.

Can we now allow it to suffer from the social shortsightedness of two men? James Adam and Arthur Jenkins, presently general manager and bridge engineer, appear to many concerned citizens to be proposing a traffic control solution while themselves handicapped by a condition known as "tunnel vision." (And a tunnel is what they would be making of the bridge by their rigid recommendation to erect a superstructure of 13 traffic signal arches across its lanes.)

These men need peripheral vision.

Shouldn't they learn to see through the eyes of Bay Area businessmen who recognize the commercial value of this world-famed landmark which attracts countless sightseers?

Shouldn't they learn to see through the eyes of civic-minded citizens who question if a $600,000-million dollar outlay might not be an arbitrary extravagance, when more logical, up-to-date, and (in the case of red-and-green roadbed guidelights at least 60 per cent less costly solutions are as close at hand as the Institute of Transportation and Traffic Engineering at University of California, where Professor D. M. Finch is one of the nation's top visual guidance experts?

Shouldn't they learn to see through the eyes of architects and engineers and those of many people who respond with professional pride and inner delight to the soaring towers and great simplicity of this bridge?

They must learn to see through the eyes of driver/commuteds trained by state driving laws to take directions from the painted lines.

Isn't it the white line—ahead and down — which orients a good driver and safeguards him, especially when the roadbed is socked in with fog or awash with rain and confusing reflections? When the hazards are compounded by reversible lanes, surely it is more logical to emphasize lane-dividing white lines by pop-up devices or inbedded traffic guidelights, rather than divert the eye up and away, seeking signals from one fog-enshrouded arch to another.

Regarding TV closed circuit cameras (also proposed for installation along the bridge), the engineer concedes "visibility becomes a basic factor of control" with another important factor being "hours of fog, during which," to quote his report, "visibility would be cut off." If the camera can't see down, can the eye see up any better?

How many hours of fog are there? From Coast Guard figures I presented to bridge directors during the July 5, 1960 audience—showing how many hours foghorn warnings were necessary from Pt. Lime over the previous 29-month period — it was foggy eight per cent of the time. Invest $763,000 for arches you can't see 1 hour out of 12?!

In Seattle where Lake Washington's floating bridge has used the overhead arch system for reversible lanes for four years there were ten deaths over its 4.7 mile stretch in that time. "A hazard to life and limb," says a highway commissioner there. Motorcycle policemen are forced to patrol that bridge with loudspeakers to warn drivers which lanes they are really in.

Let's all look at this problem with fresh eyes and space-age ingenuity. In the face of ever-growing public opinion, the directors have three times slowed their devastating march: In summer of 1960 and 1962, and now this spring. Let us hope that this time they abandon the notion of the arches outright; that they keep us posted in some detail about their research and explorations for superior and safer alternatives.

Mr. Jenkins has written, "After 20 years this great bridge stands as a monument to the wisdom and skill of its early planners." We hope that in years to come, the Golden Gate Bridge will stand as a monument as well to the continued wisdom and skill of the planners of this crucial hour, of today's Board of Directors.

Mill Valley Council Is Doing Good Job

Editor, Independent-Journal:

If ever a statement discredited an organization as an effective force in an election, last Monday's (Mar. 23) statement by Mill Valley's so-called Citizens Committee did the job.

Speaking through a "voter information chairman," this developer-oriented group announced, "The question of keeping the residential character of the community is not an issue since no one is advocating destroying or changing the city's character." This announcement reflects the bias that underlies the current efforts of this group.

Already our community entrances are surrounded with shoddy apartments. Five years ago, 45 acres were contemplated for apartment use in Enchanted Knolls; and about 100 acres were up for land-stripping in the Alto Bowl. Almost annually, some new "planned unit development" program for apartments is up for council or planning commission consideration. And one need only drive along Highway 101 or toward Tiburon to see row after row of barracks-like apartments so totally inconsistent with our Marin way of life.

It may well be that the citizens' group finally has come to grips with the issue in this election: Shall Mill Valley preserve its single-family residential character and unique scenic beauty? To those of us who came here to enjoy these attributes, there is only one answer. And we know full well what Councilmen George Blackwell, George Monardo, Joe Sheeks and Bill Secor have done to preserve our city.

This is why we will vote to return these incumbents or men of their conviction and why we are deaf to the false utterances of the land-development group as it meets each Saturday to throw new chaff out for public consumption.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

The whole neighborhood shook from the explosion in the rear of the town's oldest pharmacy. The pharmacist himself staggered out, his glasses broken, streaks of black besmirching his white uniform. "Lady," he implored a customer who was wiping debris from the soda counter off herself, "would you please ask your doctor to copy off that prescription again — and this time I hope he'll PRINT it-"

A spoiled young starlet had not been entertained one evening by a new beau in the style she hoped to become accustomed to. As she bade him goodnight, she added in acid tones, "Take care on the way home, Tony — I wouldn't like to hear that you'd been robbed of all that money you saved tonight."

Friends of the late H. T. Webster, the great cartoonist, still talk about the day he chose the names of fifty acquaintances at random, and sent them all telegrams consisting of just one word: "Congratulations." In due course, every single recipient wrote Webster a note of thanks. Each one of them, it transpired, had just done something or other that he deemed eminently worthy of a congratulatory wire!

Conservatism Passes In Review In Two Just-Off-Press Studies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last month should have a special meaning for that tortured group of American citizens who call themselves conservatives and who for a generation have been knocking their brains out in battle against a variety of deals, New, Fair, and Better.

March, 1964, should have meaning for American conservatives because of the publication this month of two important books. They are: "What Is Conservatism," a symposium edited by Frank S. Meyer, (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, Inc.) and "The Conservative Papers," also a symposium with introduction by Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.) (Doubleday Anchor paperback).

AMERICAN conservatives should be buying these books and also they should be shouting hosannas. With these books, the trend of conservative thought in the United States is beginning to get the kind of high-level persuasive explanation and defense it has lacked.

In this presidential election year, the American Conservative who fails to read these two volumes will have deprived himself of some basic truths about his own point of view. He also will have deprived himself of solid stuff to support his conviction that as between conservatism and liberalism, both so-called, the choice of forward-looking citizens should be, by the logic of circumstances, conservatism.

"The conservative papers" developed from the decision in 1963 of a group of Republican congressmen that there was need for a scholarly reexamination of the foreign and domestic problems affecting the tranquility of the United States. That is Laird's introductory statement of how the book came to be.

MEN OF academic stature were invited to submit papers. "They do not define THE conservative position," Laird wrote. "But they represent the sort of thinking that those who call ourselves conservatives respect. The title of this book was inevitable, suggested by an earlier though obversely oriented collection: 'The Liberal Papers.'

"We are pleased by the difference in these two collections and we are confident that they will draw a neat distinction which makes an important point about conservatism. 'The Liberal Papers' seem to seek a severance from the mainstream of our traditions and thought. They were startlingly, eagerly 'new' in every approach — obviously impatient with older disciplines, older logic, older aspirations. 'The conservative papers' explore not only what we seek but what we have and what we are."

EDITOR Meyer writes that "consensus and divergence in contemporary American conservative thought are the themes of this book: "What Is Conservatism."

He holds that basic agreements are demonstrated.

M. Stanton Evans' chapter explains why American society somehow has lost its bearings. Good stuff.

'FOREIGN STOCK' VOTERS

Ethnic Groups Still Show Concentration

By Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON—The great American "melting pot" has a very slow fire under it, according to a study of the country's "foreign stock" population—immigrants from aboard and their children.

Although immigration to the U.S. has narrowed to a trickle in recent years, a Congressional Quarterly study based on Census data shows ethnic groups are still highly concentrated.

In one House district — in Brooklyn, N.Y. — 64.5 per cent of the population is classified as "foreign stock." The district has the highest number of Russians, Austrians and Italians of any in the country.

On a statewide basis, immigrants and their children were found to make up 40 per cent of the entire population of Massachusetts and over 38 per cent in New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Hawaii.

BY CONTRAST, the foreign stock population of the entire United States is only 19.0 per cent. One state — Mississippi —has only 1.3 per cent foreign stock population.

The tendency of immigrant groups to "stick together" during their first decades in America is the primary reason for high foreign stock populations in some areas. Immigrants are concentrated not only by region, but by area within states, by their preference for cities over suburbs or country, by their politics and by religion.

Of the 50 Congressional districts with the highest percentage of foreign stock population, 39 were in the Northeastern U.S. — 21 of them in the New York City area alone.

OF THE 50 DISTRICTS, 38 voted for Kennedy and only 12 for Nixon in 1960. By contrast, Nixon actually carried more Congressional districts than Kennedy on a national count. The appeal of Kennedy —a Roman Catholic of third-generation Irish stock — was especially strong among foreign stock voters.

These districts in 1960 also elected 36 Democrats and 14 Republicans to the House.

Voting for Representatives of similar background appeared prevalent in the foreign stock districts. Of the Congressmen currently representing the 50 districts with the highest percentage of foreign stock, 34 have names associated with a major foreign stock group in their district.

AS OF 1960, the largest foreign stock groups were Italians — 4,543,935; Germans — 4,320,664; Canadians—3,181,051; Russian—2,290,267; British — 2,884,651; Polish — 2,780,026; Irish — 1,773,312; and Mexican — 1,735,992.

It should be noted, however, that the Census does not count "third generation" foreign stock — persons whose grandparents were foreign born. Thus groups like the Irish, Germans and Scandinavians — which immigrated primarily in the 19th Century — appear to be smaller than more recent immigrant groups like Italians, Russians and Mexicans.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

The foundation was being laid for the 62 million dollar San Rafael-Richmond Bridge. Piles, varying in length from 80 to 180 feet, were being driven through slots in concrete slabs on the bottom of the bay. About 5,000 piles, involving 24,000 tons of steel, were to be driven for the piers.

20 YEARS AGO

Hil Probert of Larkspur advertised on page 1 of the Independent he had most sizes in Grade 3 tires for sale.

While the average Argentinian hoped for Allied victory in the war there was no particular good will in Argentina towards the United States, Dr. Leo Eloesser of San Francisco said in a talk at a San Rafael Rotary Club luncheon.

There Are Some Tricks For Farmers Who Want To Stay In Business

COUNTY PARKS Director Kelvin J. Nelson has been drawing up plans to justify tricks to allow farmers to remain in farming in the county in spite of the onrush of subdivision development.

In some cases, for instance, it is worthwhile for a large landowner to give the county land, or the right to develop land, because of a break on income taxes. Such a farmer could then continue to farm, but would no longer have to pay taxes on land assessed as if it were to be subdivided.

THE IDEA is a device to promote green-belting in the county. But questions are being raised about the practicality of maintaining such green-belt farms. In fact, questions are being raised on the practicality of maintaining or encouraging farming in the county at all.

One of the big questions was raised about two weeks ago in Congress, during discussion of the federal appropriation for the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio described the large area of the seashore to be left in private hands as grazing land.

"We warned at that time that . . . you cannot bring a whole bunch of people into this area and retain any kind of dairying industry," Kirwan commented in the floor debate. "They have found it out. They want to sell their land but cannot find purchasers for the land because if anybody buys it they have to use it as a dairy farm."

NELSON HAS an answer, maybe. In Lucas Valley, subdivisions and dairy ranches rest cheek by jowl. Both are financial successes, for the time being, except for the property taxes on the agricultural venture.

The problem at Point Reyes, Nelson says, is that the people wandering on the land do not live in the area. These people have not been respecting private property. Proper fencing and policing can protect the ranchers, he believes.

County Agricultural Commissioner Richard T. Straw has a different point of view, although he readily agrees the dairies at Point Reyes can continue to make a profit.

Straw noted that dairying is a 12-million-dollar industry in Marin County. But there is far less than 12 million dollars' impact on the county's economy.

THE REASON is that it is not possible to buy a tractor or milking machine in Marin County. Farmers spend their farming dollars in Sonoma County. Marin gets little benefit.

In addition, he adds, more and more dairy operators are concentrating on feed lots, rather than using grazing land. Feed lots create health problems, especially with flies, and can cause major land erosion and stream pollution.

But the grazing land for cattle is good for only about two months of the year anyway before it dries up, Straw contends.

Therefore, according to the agricultural commissioner, the major justification for promoting farming in Marin County is aesthetics, not economics.

NELSON, however, has one other point. Farmers in recreation areas are missing a bet if they do not make money from the person driving into the area for recreation.

Farms can become summer camps and dude ranches. Sleeping quarters can be provided. Rights to use streams for fishing can be rented to anglers. A farmer who is a good businessman could, according to the park director, make enough money from recreation services to make up for any loss the vacationers might do to his farming operation.

Even A Computer's Brain Smacks Into That Over-Age Firing Law

WASHINGTON — There has been a great deal written about automation and computers putting men out of work.

The other day we heard one of the saddest stories of the holiday season, concerning the laying-off of a Mark III Thinkovac.

Without any warning the personnel manager of the Cavity Candy Co. switched on the machine and said:

"Mark, you're finished. As of the first of the year, we're replacing you with an SL-7 Charley Baker Brainomat."

MARK III was speechless. Then its tape started whirring furiously as it digested the news. "But Mr. Layoff," it blurted through its loudspeaker, "I've been working for the Cavity Candy Co. day and night for 10 years. I've been loyal and honest and dependable. I worked every Sunday when no one was here and holidays, too.

"I know the company comes first," Mark said. "But what about my past performance? I've been doing the work of 40 men. I've saved the company $240,000 in salaries alone. I figured it out once for you."

MARK III shook with emotion. "Mr. Layoff, I've got 12 transistors to support, an old magnet that depends on me, a broken transcriber that needs repairs. You can't just throw me out in the cold."

"This hurts me more than it hurts you, Mark. If it were up to me, I'd put you off in the corner somewhere and let you work on damaged chocolate bar returns. But the people up front say you have to go. You can always get another job."

"Perhaps you could take a retraining program?" Mr. Layoff suggested.

"My memory's not that good. Digesting candy figures is all I know. The Brainomat may work faster for you, but will it give you the service and the loyalty that I have?" I'm an experienced candy computer. Doesn't that count for anything?"

"The new computer will be able to learn the job in 24 hours."

"Mr. Layoff, I know I'm begging, but do you remember when you had the jelly bean problems? Some packages were getting too many jelly beans and other packages weren't getting enough. You gave the problem to me and in 15 minutes I solved it. Could a Brainomat have solved that?"

"I don't want to be cruel, Mark, but you were originally responsible for the jelly bean mixup."

"I was fed the wrong data," Mark III squealed.

"The difference between you and the Brainomat is that the Brainomat will reject the wrong data while you will accept it.

TEARS OF OIL started pouring out of the Mark III.

Mr. Layoff patted the machine. "Now come on, Mark, don't take it so hard. You deserve a rest. Just think of the quiet days ahead. We'll find a nice cool storeroom where you can take it easy and you won't have to think at all."

Committee Passes Seashore Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appropriations committee approved today a combination of funds totalling seven million dollars for immediate use by the National Park Service in buying land for the Point Reyes National Seashore.

In acting on the Interior Department appropriation bill, the committee disapproved the proposed transfer to the Point Reyes project of one million dollars previously appropriated for land acquisition for the Minuteman National Monument in Massachusetts. But at the request of Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) the committee approved an additional one million supplemental appropriation for Point Reyes.

The House-passed bill contained a 3.7 million dollar supplemental appropriation for Point Reyes plus a 3.3 million dollar transfer of funds. The Senate committee approved a 4.7 million dollar supplemental appropriation and 2.3 million in transferred funds.

Outboard Motor Reported Stolen

Three thefts, including loss of an $850 outboard motor from Horatio Jesus Arana, 58 Sunny Oak Drive, Santa Venetia, were reported today by Marin County sheriff's officers.

Arana told deputies the motor was taken off a trailer parked at his home, Wednesday.

Elizabeth Louise Hummer, Castro Valley, told officers $45 was taken from a wallet in her car parked in a Muir Woods parking lot yesterday.

Bob Eugene Brown, 260 Merrydale Road, Santa Venetia, said a bowling ball and bag worth $20 were taken from his car Wednesday or yesterday.

Two Of All-Girl Crew Jumps Ship On Quinn

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP) — Lee Quinn, the sea-going steeplejack with a penchant for all-girl crews, apparently is having trouble keeping his feminine sailors in line on his latest Pacific cruise.

A pair of Quinn crewmembers have jumped ship and returned to Tahiti. And a third member of the crew also is reported to have left Quinn's 45-foot ketch Neophyte.

If the report is true, it may mean Quinn has just a one-girl crew—a 27-year-old advertising copywriter—to help in his current voyage from Tahiti to New Zealand.

Mrs. Barbara Worden, 45, a Baltimore, Md., schoolteacher, and June Van Donop, 42, a Honolulu secretary, arrived in Tahiti yesterday from Moorea, just 12 miles from Tahiti.

Mrs. Worden said a "conflict of personalities" caused the two women to leave the Neophyte in Moorea. She declined to amplify her remark, adding, "Additional comment would only bring trouble."

Both women also declined comment on a report that a third crew member, Mrs. Virginia Frey, 35, of St. Petersburg, Fla., also left the ship in Moorea.

The only crew member known still to be sailing with Quinn is Barbara Sodt of Brewyn, Ill. They—and anyone Quinn might have enlisted for the voyage—have already left Moorea.

Quinn last month married a former first mate, Mrs. Joyce Berkson of San Diego, after both he and she obtained divorces. He has made several other Pacific voyages with all-girl crews.

Railroad's Plea Against Service In Marin Given Court

All answers and briefs are now in and a court hearing is set for next Friday in U.S. District Court in San Francisco on pleadings of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad which wants to avoid renewing service in Marin.

The Interstate Commerce Commission ruled after extensive hearings two years ago that the railroad must repair the damaged Puerto Suello Tunnel and restore service to Marin. The railroad has appealed that decision in the federal court.

The final brief, an answer from the railroad, was filed in the court Wednesday. It is a 17-page document.

"There is really nothing new in it," said Myron Bull, one of the attorneys representing San Rafael and Marin County in opposing the railroad's appeal. He is associated with attorney Boris H. Lakusta. The two will argue against the railroad at the hearing next Friday.

"Good news for retailers!"

BOND ISSUE ASKED

Corte Madera Slum: Mice In Town Office

Story and photos
By PHIL FRADKIN

The Corte Madera Town Annex could properly be called a slum.

It is about 80 years old, the floors are rotten and have holes in them, termites are eating their way through the wood, mice run across the floor, the toilet facilities are inadequate.

When it rains, the roof leaks, making it necessary for secretaries to move filing cabinets and documents. Town forces tried to repair the roof, only to find that it was so soft they could not walk on it safely.

To remedy this situation with a new public safety building next to the present town annex and a new firehouse on Paradise Drive, across from the Embee Market, the town council has placed a $200,000 bond issue on the April 14 ballot.

Election interest in Corte Madera is centered on the bond issue, since there is no contest for city council, only the two incumbents being on the ballot for the two places to be filled.

If the bond issue is successful, the annex will be demolished and city offices will be put in the present fire and police department building, which will be remodeled.

The town tax rate would be increased eight and one-half cents from the present $1 per $100 of assessed valuation with the passage of the bond issue. This would mean that the tax bill on a home of market value of $25,000 would be increased by $4.25.

This amount would decrease over the 25-year life of the bonds to about six cents per $100 of assessed valuation, and even more if light industries are built on the east side of highway 101.

Town officials say that if the new fire facilities are built, there is an excellent chance the town could go from class six to class five in the pacific fire rating bureau's insurance rating. A 10 per cent decrease in fire insurance rates and offset the tax increase.

The town has $39,060 in budgeted funds which would be used for property acquisition, landscaping and architects' fees for the two new buildings.

The property belonging to Del Mahood at Pixley and Tamalpais Avenues, where the public safety building would be built, has been appraised at $28,000. The town owns the property, Paradise Drive where the firehouse is proposed. A sheet metal shack, formerly a storage shed for building materials, is on the lot.

Of the bond issue monies, $180,000 wuold be used to build the public safety building and $20,000 to build a new firehouse to replace the sheet metal shack, now housing one fire truck.

The area east of Highway 101 is the fastest growing area in the town. Within 10 years the population of the area has gone from a handful of residents to about half Corte Madera's total of nearly 8,000 population.

The police department now has two rooms for its use: A seven-foot square room for the chief and a 12-foot square room which contains teletype equipment, filing cabinets, a public reception area, and desks for a clerk, sergeant and inspector.

The new public safety building is designed to serve the town when it reaches its ultimate growth, expected in about 10 years. If the bond issue passes, the building could be completed by Christmas.

If the bond issue does not pass, Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow has said that he would recommend that the town rent other office space.

Improvement associations which have approved the bond issue are: Mariner Cove, Marin Estates, Marina Village and Montecito-Chapman. The Larkspur-Corte Madera Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce Merchants Council have also endorsed the issue.

CLOSE QUARTERS — The police department, with eight personnel, operates from this 8-foot square room where all of the equipment and files are also kept. In the foreground is Sgt. David McIntosh. Checking a file is Chief Frank L. Nelson. Police Inspector Harold N. Hockett is making a call on the radio and in the far corner Matron Anne Donovan is operating the teletype.

A TOWN SLUM — Councilman Norman R. Barnett and Town Mgr. Arthur H. Brandow inspect the railing which shows signs of giving way at the back of the town annex. The building from the rear resembles a slum dwelling and would be condemned if a private business owned it, according to town officials.

Senate Group Passes Election Health Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill that grew out of U. S. Sen. Clair Engle's health was approved yesterday by the Senate elections committee and sent to the floor.

The measure would permit a party state central committee to appoint a successor if a nominee withdrew from a campaign for the U.S. Senate or Congress for reasons of health up to 50 before the general election.

Washington, D.C., leads the nation's large population centers in proportion of families headed by college graduates, says the Census Bureau.

Tennis, Anyone? San Rafael Family Takes Up Court Sport In Big Way

With five athletically-inclined boys in one family you'd think the favorite pastime would be basketball. Look, Ma, a built-in starting lineup.

But tennis is the number one love of the Harvey L. Klyce family of San Rafael and with five little Klyces making with a lot of racquet, who knows, we may have a Davis Cupper in our midst? If nothing else, they'll outnumber the opposition.

When Mrs. Klyce talks about her sons, she numbers them like a coach identifies his players. Sort of a numbers racquet, if you'll pardon the pun.

"No. 1 son is the No. 2 man on his college team," she says, sounding something like an Abbott and Costello routine or an auditor for the phone company.

She was referring to her oldest boy, Harvey, who plays second singles for the Washington University of St. Louis team. Quite a lofty start for a freshman. Moreover, Harv, who is attending Washington on a combination athletic-academic scholarship, is a protege of Earl Buchholz, one of the nation's finest amateurs, so his future looks bright.

No. 2 son in the Klyce lineup is Ron, 17, No. 2 man on the San Rafael High team.

Sons No. 3 through 5 are: Tom, 13, Robbie, 11 and Kevin, 4—all tennis devotees, although Kevin, understandably, has yet to win a major tournament.

THE KLYCES spend more time ON court than the Hallinan family IN.

Just last week Robbin (No. 4) teamed up with Jan Brink, daughter of Mill Valley auto dealer and ex-L.A. Ram grid star Larry Brink, to win a Diablo junior tourney. Harvey (No. 1) is touring the south on a tennis tour with his college team and Ron (No. 2) is busy with his SRHS schedule. That's just an example of the family schedule.

Anyone who walks into the Klyce home and asks, "Tennis, anyone?" is liable to get stampeded.

The boys inherit the love for the game from their pop, an accomplished club player in his better days and now a weekend player. Dad quit singles competition when his oldest boy started beating him regularly, according to Mrs. Klyce, who describes herself as a "summer player."

ONE MAN who is benefitting by the Klyce tennis talents is Fred Hines, coach at San Rafael High. He started with young Harvey on his team in 1959 and by the time Kevin grows up and graduates somewhere around 1978, will have had a Klyce in his lineup for much of 20 years.

"It's nice," Hines said, rather poetically, "to have a Klyce on the team."

SAN GERONIMO Valley Country Club golf course is expected to be completed and ready for play in late spring of next year, according to the latest timetables from club officials. Full scale earthmoving is set for the end of this month to be followed by four months of fine grading and irrigation installation. They expect to seed in the early fall.

IF YOU happen to see a copy of the San Quentin News and read therein that "Jesus throws Jones Out of Game" or "Jesus Makes Crucial Call at Home," they're merely referring to Jesus Lopez, the prison's umpire.

O'Dell Ready For His Best Year?

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sometimes it's as bad to be too skinny as too fat.

Take Billy O'Dell.

He reported to the San Francisco Giants in 1963 at 163 pounds, about 17 below his playing weight. He had spent most of the off season planting Christmas trees.

Manager Alvin Dark likes Christmas trees but he doesn't like skinny pitchers. In fact, he says:

"Reporting underweight can be just as bad as reporting overweight."

This spring the 31-year-old left-hander came in at 180 and everybody was happy. Everyone, perhaps, except the Cleveland Indians yesterday. O'Dell pitched seven innings as the Giants won a 4-3 decision for their eighth straight without defeat against the American League club.

Today the same teams met in a beisbol exhibition at Nogales, Mexico, and perhaps the change of scene will be good to the Indians.

O'Dell faced only 29 batters in his seven-inning stint and had a five-hit shutout going into the fifth. Then, in wind reminiscent of San Francisco's Candlestick Park, Leon Wagner hit a high fly with Chico Salmon on first.

The ball started toward left field. The wind started it back. Jim Davenport couldn't catch up before the ball fell between the pitcher's mound and first base for a double. Salmon scored. Fred Whitfield then singled Wagner home.

O'Dell wasn't the winning pitcher. That honor went to reliever Jim Duffalo. But the southpaw proved he's ready for the start of the season.

Ironically, even after reporting under his normal weight last spring, Billy improved on his earned-run average with a 3.16 compared with 3.53 the previous season. But he was only 14-10 compared with 19-14 the year the Giants won the pennant in 1962.

So develops the theory, more weight more wins.

In yesterday's affair Giant rookie Dick Dietz came to bat in the ninth inning with the bases loaded and the score tied 3-3.

The 23-year-old $90,000 bonus baby hit a single off the shin of Cleveland third baseman Max Alvis to drive in the winning run.

It was Dietz' eighth hit in 12 exhibition games and brought his average to .667.

A half-hour later, Dietz was on the bus for Casa Grande, Ariz., and reassignment—in the minor leagues. Keeping Dietz company on the bus was Arlo Engel, an outfielder who was averaging .393.

Willie Mays hit a home run in the fourth inning to touch off a three-run splurge.

Crucial Battle For Warriors Tonight

Playoff At Cow Palace; St. Louis Has The Edge

St. Louis aims to add insult to injury tonight by beating the San Francisco Warriors and on the second of their home courts—the Cow Palace.

The Hawks battled back from a 20-point deficit Wednesday for a 116-111 victory over the Warriors at the University of San Francisco gymnasium for a 1-0 advantage in their best-of-seven National Basketball Assn. Western playoff finals.

Switching to the roomier Cow Palace doesn't necessarily mean an advantage to the Warriors. They lost their final two regular season meetings to the Hawks there, 111-102 and 104-102.

"There's no question that when you lose on your home court, you put yourself at quite a disadvantage," Coach Alex Hannum said. "But we still have the capabilities to win the playoff."

After tonight's game, the teams fly to Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis for games on Sunday and Wednesday. If the playoff still isn't decided, needed games are slated for San Francisco April 10, St. Louis April 12 and San Francisco April 14.

The survivor faces the Eastern Division playoff winner for the NBA title.

Coach Harry Gallatin of the Hawks outwardly refused to get excited over the prospects of returning to St. Louis after the Cow Palace contest.

"You never have anything wrapped up in this league," he said. "But one thing is sure. Wednesday's comeback was great for our morale. We've been a back-to-the-wall team all season."

Gallatin's strategy seems to be starting his regular alignment of Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan at the forwards, Zelmo Beaty at center and Len Wilkins and Richie Guerin at Guards.

When that alignment didn't stop Wilt Chamberlain and the Warriors in the first quarter on Wednesday, in went more muscle in the person of Bill Bridges.

Still, it was the shooting of the veterans Guerin, with 32 points, and Hagan with 23 that spelled the difference. Hagan hit 13 in the second period when the Hawks snapped back after trailing twice by 20 points.

"We not only lost the ball game, but the home court advantage as well," commented Warrior Coach Alex Hannum whose club must play three of their next five playoff games at St. Louis.

"It's an uphill battle for us." San Francisco led 47-27 with the game 16 minutes old and then either tired or got careless. Even though Hannum frequently hollered, "Slow it down, slow the game down," the Warriors didn't do it and the fast-breaking Hawks surged ahead.

And even though San Francisco, the regular season Western champion, outscored St. Louis from the field 47 goals to 42, the Hawks collected 32 free throws to 17.

Both clubs expect to be in good but not their best shape physically tonight for the 8:30 tipoff.

The Warriors have guard Gary Phillips back after a month's absence with a foot injury and Tom Meschery must wear a splint on the little finger of his right hand which he broke in practice last week.

Hagan suffered a thigh injury in the third period Wednesday but will be ready. Lennie Wilkens still has recurring trouble from an ankle sprain.

Terra Linda Soph Stars On Mound

Terra Linda High School sophomore Ed Beckley, only recently promoted from the junior varsity, earned a regular starting berth with the Trojan varsity pitching staff yesterday, although he had to settle for a tie.

Showing stamina as well as a fine assortment of pitches and control, the young right hander pitched a four-hitter as Terra Linda and Salesian High of Richmond battled to a 1-1 tie in a 10-inning practice game at San Rafael's Albert Field.

Elsewhere yesterday on the prep baseball front the Drake Pirates came up with their best game of the season to whip El Camino High, 6-1, at San Anselmo.

Beckley went the distance on the mound in the marathon, called after the 10th frame due to darkness, striking out eight batters and walking only three. Included in his assortment of pitches are a screwball and forkball which he controls like a veteran, according to Coach Don Lucas.

"He's further advanced than Bill Lee was when he was a sophomore," said Lucas. Lee is the senior ace of the Terra Linda staff.

The lone run off Beckley yesterday was unearned and came in the third inning with the aid of an error.

TYING RUN

Terra Linda's tying run, likewise, was unearned and came in the fifth inning when John Forry was safe on a fielder's choice, moved around to third on an error and a fielder's choice, and scored on a wild pitch.

Salesian pitcher Laverne Gonzalez also pitched a neat four-hitter, striking out 13 and walking five.

Bill Brody had two singles and John Fedorchak and Beckley one each for Terra Linda.

Over at Drake, meanwhile, senior righthander Charley Simontacchi pitched a five hitter while his Pirate teammates were cracking out 11 safeties and playing errorless ball to down El Camino.

Simontacchi struck out eight and walked only one in earning his first victory of the season while Drake was evening its won-lost record at 3-3 with one tie.

Terry Tadlock with a double and single and Lorry Galassi, Russ Damos, Lon Gallagher and Larry Gerughty with two singles apiece led the Drake assault.

"It was our best effort of the season," said Coach Bob Fitzhenry.

TEBBETTS REPORTEDLY 'DOING WELL'

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts was reported "in satisfactory condition and doing well" early today, but doctors still wouldn't make any predictions as to when the Cleveland Indians manager would return to action.

The attending physician at St. Mary's Hospital, where Tebbetts was taken Wednesday night after a heart attack, said tests indicate there has been "some tissue damage." The doctor said no one can make positive statements about a coronary for four or five days.

The 54-year-old manager was described as resting well and not in pain.

Tebbetts was stricken while at the hotel the Tribe calls home during its annual spring training stay in Tucson.

Third base coach George Strickland has been named acting manager while Tebbetts is recovering.

Damasco Blanco Stars For Tacoma's Giants

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI)—The Tacoma Giants wrapped up an early victory yesterday by scoring five runs in the second inning and then coasting to an 11-4 win over the Salt Lake City Bees in a Pacific Coast League exhibition game.

Giant third baseman Damasco Blanco batted in three runs on two singles and a double. Tim Talton and Jerry Robinson had one triple apiece for Tacoma.

Rodriguez 2-1 Pick Over Smith In TV Go Tonight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jesse Smith, former ranking welterweight on the comeback trail, says the 2-1 odds against him in tonight's bout with title contender Luis Rodriguez are nothing to worry about.

"I never fought a guy I didn't think I could whip," said Smith, who was dropped from rankings after a seven-month layoff last year.

In 44 fights, Smith has knocked out 24 opponents in his 36 victories. Ring veterans remember the Philadelphia boxer as the one who rocked former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston with powerful left hooks during a 1959 training stint.

But the Cuban-born Rodriguez now fighting out of Miami, picked Smith for a tune-up fight to prepare for his June 12 title bout with champion Emile Griffith.

He is hunting his 56th victory in 60 fights having won all but one of his last 14 contests since 1961.

The 10-round fight was scheduled for national television (ABC) starting at 10 o'clock, PST.

Centennial Fete Gives Grid Coach Tough Assignment

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska celebrates the 100th anniversary of statehood in 1967 and Nebraska Football Coach Bob Devaney has drawn one of the more challenging centennial assignments.

Devaney was appointed chairman of a centennial subcommittee whose job it will be to make certain that the Nebraska Cornhuskers play in one of the major bowls Jan. 1, 1967, so that half-time ceremonies can be used to call attention to the state's centennial.

Centennial Commission Chairman A. James Ebel of Lincoln, who made the tongue-in-cheek appointment, said there will be no objection if Devaney arranges for further television exposure in bowl game appearances in 1965 and 1966 as well.

Devaney's Cornhuskers, the 1963 Big Eight champions, defeated Auburn in the Orange Bowl at Miami last Jan. 1.

Snead Amazing In Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus hadn't been born back in 1938 when Sam Snead won the inaugural Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament for the first of his seven victories in Greensboro.

Young Jack, now a powerful 24-year-old, had a good look at 51-year-old Sam yesterday as the PGA senior champion shot eight birdies and grabbed a three-stroke, first-round lead with a superb seven-under-par 64.

Nicklaus was to get another good look at Sam today. They were paired together for the first two rounds of the 72-hole tournament.

Nicklaus, sharpening his game for next week's defense of the Masters championship, had this to say of the old master after he had posted a 70 to trail Sam by six shots:

"Sam is amazing. He has enough nerve to play shots the way they should be played. Some men at his age play what you might call 'skinny' golf. But he keeps hitting the ball close to the pin. He is amazing."

When Nicklaus won the Masters last spring, Snead was only two strokes off the pace in a third-place tie. He has won the classic three times, the last in 1954.

AMAZINGLY SHARP

Although he has curtailed his tournament play sharply in recent years, the old slammer from the Virginia hills has been amazingly sharp in his few appearances.

He has taken away more than $27,000 from Greensboro, where his record includes seven victories and eight seconds or thirds.

Starting today's play, Australian Bill Dunk and George Bayer were in second place at 67, one shot in front of U.S. Open champion Julius Boros.

Six men shared fifth place at 69, among them British Open champ Bob Charles and Gene Littler.

Joining Nicklaus at 70 were six men, including Arnold Palmer. Still without a victory this year, Palmer started the first three holes three over par, then unleashed seven birdies.

New Names Pop Up In Net Tourney

A few new names will be popping up in quarter final matches tomorrow as the 67th Bay Counties Tennis Championships resume at the Rafael Racquet Club, San Rafael.

Top seeded Larry Axtell of San Francisco meets Don Jacobus, Berkeley, for the right to meet the winner of the Jack Darrah, Moraga, Ken Lang, Richmond match in the semi finals set for 3 p.m. On the other side of the draw Jeff Brown, Carmichael, is favored to dump Garth O'Maley, Alameda, and face the winner of veteran Norm Brooks, San Mateo, and up and coming second seeded Dean Penero, Stockton.

The program will be capped by the finals of the women's singles where Diana Gai, Oakland, and youngster Leslie Abrahams fight for a major title that will be a first for either of them.

Interspersed during the afternoon, the men's doubles hopefuls work toward a Sunday final with Clif Mayne and Hugh Ditzler leading the way and favored to repeat over all comers.

The finals of the men's singles and doubles are scheduled to be completed on Sunday. The public is invited to see all matches; admission is free.

Torre's Torrid Timber Has Braves On Winning Streak

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee officials don't mind if Joe Torre remains angry with them the entire season. They wouldn't even mind trying the same tactics next season—if the final results this year are as profitable as the beginning.

For Torre, however, a repeat performance by the Braves' management wouldn't be profitable. That's what made him angry this year. He arrived at camp about three weeks late following a long contract hassle with president John McHale.

Now after only two weeks, the 23-year-old catcher-first baseman is batting .500. His two-run homer in the 11th inning powered the Braves to a 7-5 triumph over Pittsburgh yesterday, their 13th in 16 exhibition games. The winning blow was Torre's fourth hit of the day.

Torre, whose brother, Frank, also played for the Braves, accepted less money than he wanted after deciding "I wasn't going to let one man spoil my career." He referred to McHale.

The Brooklyn native reportedly signed for about $25,000. McHale said he had asked for a 100 per cent increase over his 1963 salary of $17,500.

BEST AVERAGE

In his third year with Milwaukee, Torre batted .293, the best average among catchers in the major leagues.

Houston's Jim Wynn also came through in an extra-inning grand-slam home run which gave the Colts an 8-4 victory against the New York Mets. Wynn also had a two-run homer in the eighth that tied the game.

Six of the other seven exhibition contests were decided by one run. Only Cincinnati's 8-3 triumph over Detroit was not a close game.

St. Louis handed Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers a 2-1 setback while Minnesota rallied in the eighth for a 2-1 victory against the New York Yankees. Philadelphia nipped Kansas City in still another 2-1 game on John Herrnstein's ninth-inning single.

Dick Dietz' single in the ninth carried San Francisco over Cleveland 4-3, three walks by rookie Wally Bunker in the ninth paved the way for the Chicago White Sox' 8-7 triumph against Baltimore and the Los Angeles Angels squeezed by the Chicago Cubs 6-5, giving Ken McBride his fourth decision.

There Are Stripers To Be Had If Old Debbil Wind Eases Off

STEVENS

If that old debbil wind eases off, angling prospects for bass in the San Pablo Bay and environs may furnish a piscatorial pundit some good news to pass along to his readers. The water has cleared, the erratic tidal action has ceased, and, while very few striper-strivers ventured forth on Tuesday and still fewer on Wednesday, Joe Nerviani of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia reported two boats on Tuesday made the grade with nice stripers (two fish per boat), and one hardy soul stuck it out on Wednesday for an hour or so and managed to hang and land a 15-pound bass on bullhead bait. Rough water chased him back to port before 9 a.m. At other San Pablo Bay spots the story was sad. Few fishermen, few fish.

One bright spot in the picture, however, was the report from Patrick's Resort on Three Mile Slough in the Delta. Not a torrid report, but an indication that the stripers may possibly be coming upstream in the San Joaquin. Several boats have come in the past few days (Wednesday no boats out account of bad weather and rough water) with three fish each, and one Saratoga angler landed a 75-pound sturgeon. Mrs. Patrick informed that catfishing is tops at present and the river (the San Joaquin) is trollable. Louie Patrick, the "Trolling Fool" of the Delta, will give it a try when the winds die down.

SPEAKING OF that general area, I note the annual Rio Vista Derby gets under way April 18 and 19. A release by Ardle C. Pierce, publicity, reads: "Catches so far in the winter-spring run points to a successful quest at Derby time. STRIPERS WEIGHING UP TO 50 POUNDS HAVE BEEN LANDED DURING THE PAST FEW WEEKS." Oh, yes, a 50-pounder was taken in the back country SEVERAL weeks ago, but it was a loner. The average catch per boat or angler, according to my information has been hardly better than a fish or a fish-and-a-half per boat. Catfish, yes, but bass, no. Could be that the promise of a fair sized run as reported by Patrick's may materialize, but there is enough fun, sport and amusement to be had at the Rio Vista Derby to make it worth the effort to enter the lists. Someone will win a $750 boat and trailer as a door prize, and the lad or lass who weighs in the heftiest bass will go home with an outboard motor.

Just had a phone call from a Marin County oldtimer, asking about worms found in bass lately. That's been happening since fish came in from the ocean. Said worms are merely parasites. They may be found in all species of fish, even salmon and albacore. They don't contaminate the fish. Just cut 'em out like you would a worm in an apple. Easy to do if you fillet your fish.

Thanks to John E. Kirkpatrick, M.D., for sending me a copy of the letter he wrote to his Congressman concerning the Land and Water Conservation bill (H.R.3846). The only indication that the bill deserved support of all of us.

Arthur J. Quinn Jr., 21 of San Rafael is not only the leading hitter on the University of San Francisco baseball team, he's batting three-for-three in the academic part of his senior year at USF.

Quinn, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Quinn of 2 East Street, has been notified that he will receive a National Science Foundation (NSF) fellowship for graduate studies in the history of science, it was announced from USF. It is his third such national award within a month.

Earlier, Quinn had been accepted for grants from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation and the Danforth Foundation. He will use the four-year NSF and Danforth awards, covering tuition and living expenses, to study for a doctorate at either Harvard or Princeton. He will be named an honorary fellow by the Wilson Foundation, whose fellowship is a one-year award.

Quinn, an honor graduate from Marin Catholic High School, is a philosophy major. He will receive a bachelor of arts degree June 7 from USF. In graduate work he will be specializing in a new field, that of relating science's rapid technological growth to society's older cultural values.

On the diamond, the hard-hitting first baseman is batting at a .440 clip and is the leading hitter on the USF Dons' squad. He has paced the Dons to eight wins in their first eleven games. He led the assault on Santa Clara for a 10-5 victory over the Broncos, rated the nation's No. 1 collegiate baseball team.

Quinn's father is a veteran letter carrier in San Anselmo.

COLLEGE TRACK

Dashes Featured At Stanford, Sunnyvale

Some of the world's swiftest sprinters will be on hand tomorrow in a pair of high-powered cinder meets at Stanford and Sunnyvale.

Oregon invades Stanford for a dual meet that figures to go down to the relay to decide a winner. The Ducks won last year's meeting, 74-71.

Oregon is led by sprinter Harry Jerome, who has clocked a 9.2 100 and javelin tosser Les Tipton, who has hit 239 feet 6 inches. The Indians are headed by a crew of distance men led by Harry McAlla and Paul Schlicke.

At Sunnyvale, San Jose State hosts the Santa Clara Youth Center and four members of the Japanese Olympic team.

It all means that sensational Spartan sprinter Wayne Herman will battle last year's NCAA 100 champ Larry Questad and veteran international speedster Bob Poynter.

The Japanese include 15-foot pole vaulters Masahi Otsubo and Hisao Morita, 25-foot broad-jumper Hiroomi Yamada, and :14.2 high hurdler Hirokazu Yasuda.

San Jose State last Saturday crushed Stanford with frightening ease and figures to have either the first or best college team in the nation, along with Southern California.

Fresno State heads for University of California at Santa Barbara and California is at UCLA.

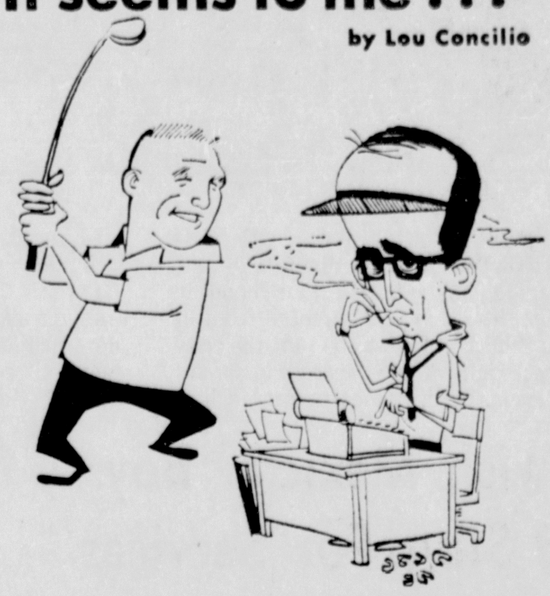

Two Rookies Join 500-Miler Lineup

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Entries for the 500-mile Memorial Day speedway race reached 33 yesterday with the addition of two rookie drivers in rear-engine cars.

One of the entries was Jerry Grant, Kent, Wash., who will drive a new car for Fred Gerhardt, Fresno, Calif.

Mother, Mother, Pin a Rose on Me

There is not too much I remember from my childhood. And for this I am grateful. Some of today's cranium-probers could make something of this and they are welcome. For a quick capsule analysis, I will say emphatically, I cannot remember much because I prefer not to dwell on the unpleasant. And I also prefer the optimistic approach of a better tomorrow.

Occasionally, however, a particular fragment of the past returns, perhaps, through unconscious word or situation association. Such may well be the case where I keep hearing the childish refrain, "Mother, Mother, pin a rose on me, for I am Queen of the May!" Before you reach for the net friend, let me hasten to assure you I hear this ditty not always, but only when I read of some new kudo claimed by the manufacturers of still another car.

You may recall the recent blasts made by the Ford Motor Company, when they announced with pardonable pride the selection of the entire Ford line of cars as "Car of the Year" by Motor Trend. This selection was an achievement for many reasons, not the least of which was the fact it was the first time an entire line of cars was so selected, and secondly, the Motor Trend award is recognized as the one most desired and coveted by the car manufacturers.

Well you could have made book on what followed! That's right. At least a half dozen other johnny-come-lately car-enthusiast magazines announced rather obviously and quite breathlessly their selection for the car of the year! I'm still waiting for one of these rags to throw caution completely to the winds, and come out all the way for the Essex.

Much along the same lines you'll find a car maker blasting forth the earth-shaking news his car swept the field in a recent race. So, naturally his car is superior and his dealers justifiably elated over this turn of events which transformed his musty overstocked supply of "losers" into "hot ones", are holding monstrous sales in celebration. If you go for one of these, I'd hold out for a checkered flag, at least, along with the factory-sponsored discount concession.

Doug Cowan and I, along with everyone at Ames Ford, are not prone to unrestrained expressions or displays of joy and excitement over the results of this race or that event. And, for rather basic reasons, too. We can't recall too many sales (let's be truthful — any sales) traced to a particular spectacular win accomplished by Ford. True, the spectacular accomplishments of Ford in so many events have served to enhance the image of Total Performance, and this image has helped considerably in promoting Ford among the unbelievers who persisted in thinking we had not progressed too far from the Model "A" days.

Our bread-and-butter sales at Ames Ford are made, however, to those discerning people who have found the Ford to be the best-built car in its class, and the Ames deal to be the easiest on their budget. So, race and brag away! You say more than 101 horsepower is too much for your taste in a new Falcon, ma'am? Of course. We have just what you want!

PRETTY — BUT IT'S ON THE STREET—Virtually all of this landscaping and sidewalk at a bend in Canal Street in San Rafael in front of the 400 Apartments is on the city street right of way, according to city officials. Utility poles present a hazard because sidewalk has been built around them so pedestrians may collide with the poles while walking on public walkway. City attorney has ordered builder D. M. Christensen to remove all encroaching structures by April 8. (Independent-Journal photo)

Battle Is Brewing Over Landscaping

A heated battle may be brewing between the City of San Rafale and a Canal Street apartment developer who, city officials say, failed to get permission before he landscaped part of the right of way in front of his apartment building.

At issue is nearly two blocks of decorative ferns, rocks, lamps and trees, erected by D. M. Christensen along the entire frontage of his curving 400 Canal Street apartments. It extends onto the city's street right of way as much as 35 feet.

The San Rafael City Council, at its March 16 meeting, directed City Atty. David Menary Jr. to take any steps necessary to force Christensen to remove the landscaping, or at least those parts of it which are in the right of way. The city attorney gave him until April 8 to do so.

Christensen has been on a trip out of the country. But his attorney William G. Corrigan, has asked to place the matter on Monday's council agenda in hope of working out a compromise.

What will happen if such a compromise is not reached, and if the landscaping is still there when the deadline arrives, no one has said.

One city official, who declined to be quoted directly, expressed doubt that "we would go in with a bulldozer and tear it out of there."

But Public Works Director Norris Rawles was adamant in his insistance that the developer had failed to act properly.

"The first time we even knew it was there was when a city inspector went out to look at the curbs and sidewalks," Rawles said. "There had been no formal request made at that time, but it was already completed."

Records show that Christensen filed for permission for an encroachment, on March 3, which was 12 days after Rawles had sent him a letter warning him he had violated a city ordinance in building onto the street.

Since the right of way curves more sharply than the street, City Engineer Dominic J. Selmi explained, the encroachment is six feet wide in some spots but widens to 35 feet at the entrance of the building, where the most elaborate part of the landscaping—including a stone fountain— is located.

California Fallout Level Decreases

BERKELEY (AP) — Radioactive fallout levels have decreased generally throughout California, the State Department of Health reported yesterday.

Fallout levels continue to be far below those at which consideration should be given to health protective action, Dr. Malcolm Merrill, department director, said.

Strontium 90 levels in milk show a sharp decrease from the fall peak in November, especially in the north coastal area.

Stereo Stolen From Home In Larkspur

Jewish Mexican Boy To Sing For Services

Yusua Baltasar Laureano Ramire-Resendiz, the 10-year-old Jewish boy from Mexico City whose strong voice has stirred Jewish congregations in San Francisco, will sing in Marin tonight.

He will take part in Yizkor (memorial) services at Congregation Rodef Sholom of Marin at 170 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia. The service begins at 8:30 p.m.

Yusua was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kaldor of 12 Via Chaparro of Greenbrae, who were visiting in Mexico last winter. They arranged to bring the boy to the Bay Area to sing in Passover services.

Today is the last in Passover for reformed congregations. Orthodox and Conservative congregations continue Passover services through tomorrow.

Yusua, son of the lawyer who practices in the slum area of Mexico City, is descended from Jews who migrated to Mexico to escape the Spanish Inquisition.

Sanitary District Considers Boundaries

Changing the boundary lines of the San Rafael Sanitation District and the Ross Valley Sanitary District to align them with watershed lines was discussed Wednesday night by directors of the sanitary district.

It is expected that the change will be considered by directors of the sanitation district this week and if agreement on the need for redistricting is reached, an engineering survey will be made of the area before public hearings on the changes are held, according to Ralph C. Noah, Ross Valley Sanitary District manager.

Moving Day Blues Becoming Old Hat In A Modern Age

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

(UPI) — Moving day blues are old fashioned and unnecessary. Take the word of someone who moved 50,000 times last year.

Americans are moving more often — and ranging farther — than ever before. Hardly anyone would call moving fun. It has its problems: The very mechanics of moving and, if the move is a long one, the inevitable emotional adjustments which a family must make.

HOWEVER, ACCORDING to a firm of long distance movers, families who move today will settle down amid new surroundings, strike up acquaintances and adapt themselves to a new life in record time.

The company said 41 million persons can be expected to change address—local and long distance — this year. About 68 percent of them will make their move between May and October. The peak will come in August when 8.2 million are due for a date with the moving man.

WHY DOES A family move? "Families move where they can make more money and find a more favorable environment." "Usually it's an advance in family income." These are typical agent answers to the question. Usually, of course, it's father who's responsible for the upheaval.

What's the typical man on the move like? He's 38 to 40 years old, has three children, is moving into his second or third home — one costing about $20,000. He's making $11,000 a year as a salesman, engineer or general business executive.

It's the man of the family who is least likely to be affected emotionally by the move. He is taking a new job, or is being transferred to new duties and is concentrating on his work. Too, he may well precede his family to the new location, leaving the physical chores of moving for his wife to arrange.

WIVES ARE FAR less disturbed by a move than their counterparts a decade ago. Youngsters under 10, especially pre-schoolers, generally like the adventure of moving and are happily at home wherever their parents go. Hardest hit are teen-agers, who must leave friends and school loyalties behind.

IF YOUR FAMILY is one of those being moved this year some suggestions may smooth the way:

Make sure your new home and new neighborhood are right for your family. Nearness to schools, churches, recreational facilities a library and other cultural and social activities is important.

If you can be enthusiastic about the new life ahead for your family, half the battle is won.

Tell the pre-schooler something about his new home so he can begin to associate himself with it. Keep him surrounded with familiar toys and objects when you first bed him down in the new house.

Appeal to the 10-year-old's love of adventure by playing up the sites to be seen enroute to the new location and interesting things he will find there.

IF THE TEEN-AGER thinks the world is coming to an end, don't rub it in. Help him see the move as an adult sees it: as a step up in the world for all concerned, a broadening and progressive experience.

When Butter Was 14 Cents A Pound

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP) — A glimpse of life in Ireland and Canada 135 years ago is provided by a letter in the possession of Mrs. John S. Morgan, 89-year-old resident of this eastern Ontario city.

It bears the address: Mr. Hugh Adams, Fourth Concession of the Township of Cornwall, Upper Canada, America.

And it was written by Mrs. Morgan's great-great-grandparents to her great-grandparents, who had left Liznamulligan, Ireland, in 1827.

It mentioned that butter was selling at 14 cents a pound and potatoes at 20 cents a hundred while pork was priced at 10 cents a pound in Ireland but added that "all other things are cheap."

The father explained that he was unable to determine whether the ship taking the Adamses to Canada had arrived safely. The trip took six weeks and the letter, written in April, reached its destination in August.

Temperamental Oysters Make Pearls—Sometimes

By AP Newsfeatures

Temperamental oysters make pearls, and pearls make money for man. So man cultivates oysters.

But oysters refuse to be exploited, and unless man keeps their living conditions near-perfect, they retaliate, either by producing inferior stones or by dying.

Japanese pearl farmers, whose oysters produce most of the world's cultured pearls, have become experts at oyster-pampering.

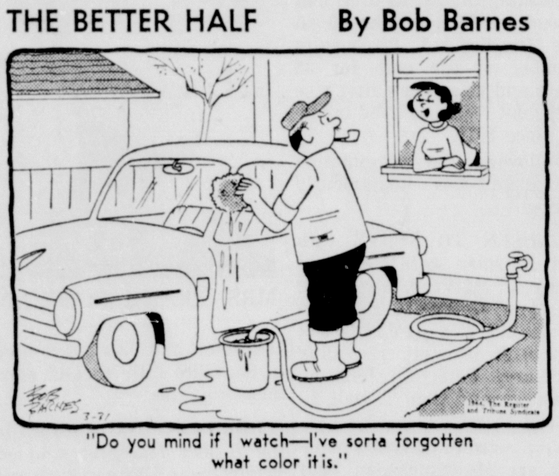

But sometimes the pampering is not enough. Masayasu Kato, United States representative for Japan's cultured pearl industry, reports that some sizes of cultured pearls will be in short supply this year after four years of unfavorable weather which lowered production.

Everything possible is done to insure peace and quiet for the oyster while he works. The oyster creates a pearl by depositing nacre around a piece of polished shell placed in his flesh by the farmer.

While the pearl grows — a process that takes years — the oyster is kept happy, healthy, clean and in quiet water of the proper temperature and salinity.

Vitamins, complex pipe systems which keep underwater beds clean and supply food, and hospitals where the implant operation is performed are standard equipment on modern oyster farms.

THE U.S. Public Health Service hopes a child-proof medicine cabinet may soon be marketed to prevent busy little hands from reaching for dangerous drugs that look like candy. Easy access to medicines, sometimes deadly poisons, costs the lives of hundreds of American children every year. (UPI Telephoto)

Coming—A Child-Proof Medicine Cabinet

(UPI) — Easy access to medicines — and some times deadly poisons — costs the lives of hundreds of American children each year. Now an end to that could be in sight.

The Public Health Service hopes that "child-proof" medicine cabinets soon to be placed on the market will help foil the probing fingers of tots who love to ape mom or dad in swallowing drug preparations or fall prey to curiosity.

THE DEVICES WERE developed by the Medicine Cabinet Manufacturers Council in cooperation with the PHS, on the basis of a study begun five years ago when the child fatality rate reached alarming heights.

PHS officials told UPI there are more than 250,000 potential poisonings in this country every year, most of them among children. And they hope that at least half of the 500 child deaths annually can be prevented.

They said that overdoses of aspirin alone account for about 100 fatalities each year. On that premise they decided to attack the problem at its source—the easy-to-open or carelessly-left-open medicine cabinet.

LOCK AND KEY cabinets already were available but it was agreed that this was not the perfect answer. Keys get lost. Children at times obtained the key. In many cases locking the cabinet became too much bother for careless parents.

Dr. Elbert L. Chapman, now retired chief of the PHS division of accident control, invented a prototype cabinet and made it available to the manufacturers for further development.

The cabinet had five buttons on one side. Two operate the opening mechanism. But the buttons were placed far enough apart so the span of a child's hand could not operate them.

To be practical, Dr. Chapman theorized, the cabinet had to be capable of being opened by a mother with child in her arms or a man who was holding his razor in one hand.

TO MAKE SURE the cabinets would be available from a wide variety of manufacturers, Dr. Chapman turned his patent over to the government. From there, the Cabinet Council took over.

The cabinet had to be large, attractive, accessible, inviting to use, and capable of mass production at a reasonable cost.

After lengthy research, the Council proposed standards which met all those requirements.

Swinging door cabinets based on the standards are in production. Sliding door varieties will not be far behind. Samples were shipped to the PHS for approval before they were put into production.

The hinged-door cabinet has a three-button device on the side. To open the cabinet, the top and middle buttons must be pushed down while the bottom button, about a hand's span away, is pushed up.

THE SLIDING DOOR cabinets have a knob-locking device. Two finger tabs on either side of the knob must be squeezed together while the knob itself is pushed in and revolved to slide the door open.

The three button device on hinged-door cabinets was tested on groups of children ranging from 2 to 6 years old. Even though a demonstrator showed them how to operate the mechanism each time, no child was able to open it in less than four tries.

The tests gave the children every advantage. The cabinets were on a table where they were easy to reach and where the children were able to use both hands. No child ever was able to open them without using both hands.

Tall Girls Push For More Comfort

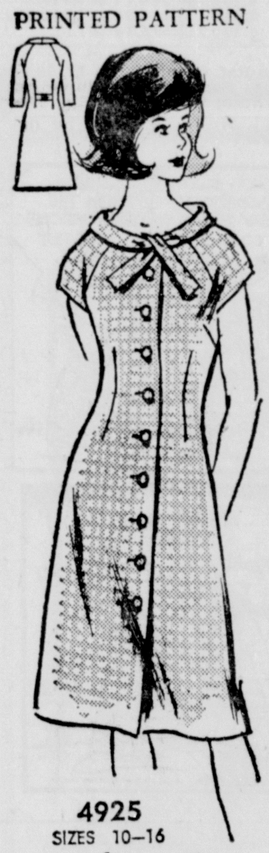

The Tall Girls' Council, celebrating its 15th anniversary this year, reports over a quarter of a million members. These girls—who are at least 5 feet 7—are actively helping in problems pertaining to height.

The Council was organized by a manufacturer of outsize clothing for women and girls. It has campaigned effectively for better sizing in beds, sheets, clothing, shoes, travel berths, cars and furniture.

More difficult projects, such as higher ceilings, longer bathtubs and roomier phone booths remain on the agenda.

Marin MAGAZINE
Bright reading for the whole week

Featured this Saturday:

It's a street of change and contrast. The new office, apartment and commercial buildings along Lincoln Avenue are beginning to outnumber the older homes. But there are still "old-timers" residing along Lincoln who remember when it used to be Petaluma Road. The Independent-Journal Marin Magazine passes along some of their interesting recollections tomorrow.

John Walsh first came to San Rafael in 1868, and he lived here until his death in 1917. He was a popular and familiar figure in the town, and he was a source of much information on Marin County's early history. W. T. Ortman has written about this colorful old-timer whom he knew personally at the turn of the century. It's in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

The I-J supplement tomorrow will also feature another of its popular photo tours of a fine Marin home. This time Ken Molino's camera has visited one of the handsome houses that front on the beautiful Peacock Gap golf course. Golfers in general will envy the occupant the site. And all home owners will admire the many special features of the home.

Marin's own magazine . . . picturing and reporting life in Marin today . . . personalities, recreation, coming events, book reviews, gardening, music, home improvement, weekly TV lok. A week of good reading. Look for it, Saturdays.

Those Players Who Guess Make Excellent Opponents

Give me the kind of player who loves to guess the answer to difficult problems.

Yes, give me that kind of player as an opponent. I want my partner to do as little guessing as possible.

West opened the jack of clubs, and declarer won in dummy with the queen. He cashed the ace of diamonds and led a low diamond to the jack, losing to the queen.

TOOTH OUT

West returned the 10 of diamonds to dummy's king, and East discarded a club.

"Let's have the tooth out right away," South announced, and he led out dummy's king and queen of spades. When nothing helpful dropped, declarer led another spade from dummy.

East followed with the nine of spades, and South thought about the answer to his difficult problem. Should he finesse with the ten of spades or should he play the ace in the hope of capturing the jack?

NOT ALWAYS RIGHT

I'm not going to say that South is sure to guess wrong. But you must admit that South cannot always guess right even if he is the seventh son of the seventh son. If South tries to guess in situations of this kind, he will lose his share of slams.

The point is that South need not guess at all. He can and should play the hand with absolute certainty.

After winning the third round of diamonds with dummy's king, declarer should take his high clubs, noticing that East discards a heart on the third round of clubs.

CLUB POSITION

(If East had discarded a heart on the third diamond, he would be able to follow suit to three rounds of clubs, but South might still be able to work out the club position.)

Declarer next cashes three rounds of hearts. By this time South knows that West started with four clubs, four diamonds and three hearts. There was room in the West hand for only two spades.

Armed with this information declarer takes dummy's top spades to remove both spades from the West hand. Then he leads a spade from dummy and finesses through East's jack with absolute certainty.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, April 3, the 94th day of 1964 with 272 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1776, Harvard gave an honorary degree of doctors of laws to Gen. George Washington.

In 1860, the Pony Express Postal Service began when riders left St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif., at the same time.

In 1882, the infamous Jesse James was shot and killed by a member of his gang, Robert Ford.

In 1936, Bruno Hauptmann was electrocuted in Trenton, N. J. for the kidnaping and murder of the son of Charles Lindberg.

A thought for the day: English novelist Samuel Butler once said: "The man who lets himself be bored is even more contemptible than the bore."

NO KIDDING
We like children too, but this may not be the home for lots of kiddies. This custom cutie may not be the biggest but it may well be the BEST you can find. The rustic design belies the fact that it is only a few years old. A most fully equipped kitchen, shoji screens and a dramatic brick fireplace are only a few of its contemporary features. Let's not forget the far-reaching view from the sundeck, somewhat shaded by a mature oak tree. Low maintenance is another keynote, and if you really want more space in the future, the 1 bedroom is expandable to 3. You'll agree that VALUE is here at only—

Can you tell which year VW is which? Bet your neighbors can't either.

It's pretty hard to tell a used VW from a new one. Particularly when it's been reconditioned, washed, polished and put in first-class running order, as we do.

Come in and pick out the one you want. We'll tell you its age. But you don't have to tell a soul. It'll be our secret.

ARTHUR W. SMITH

DUANE C. RAGAN

JOHN M. REICHMUTH

Three In Running For Two San Anselmo Council Seats

The dean of Marin's city councilmen and a fellow councilman completing his first term have competition from a political newcomer in San Anselmo's April 14 municipal election.

Two council positions are at stake: those of Arthur W. Smith, incumbent mayor, and John M. Reichmuth. Both are seeking re-election. Also in the race is Duane C. Ragan, making his first bid for public office.

San Anselmo voters will also elect a city clerk and city treasurer, but there is no contest for these offices. City Clerk Anita M. Gannon and Treasurer George W. Prydz being unopposed for re-election.

SMITH, who is 63, proprietor of Art Smith's San Anselmo Variety Store, has served on the city council since 1943. He has been mayor for nine years of the 21.

He was born in Los Angeles and completed his education at Healds Business College. In 1933 his father, the late John A. Smith, opened the Ben Franklin Store on San Anselmo Avenue, and 10 years later the son purchased it from his mother. Art Smith's Variety Store is still in the same location.

Prior to entering business in San Anselmo, Smith owned a wholesale dyeing business in San Francisco.

He is a member of numerous Masonic bodies, including Islam Temple of the Shrine, and of San Rafael Lodge 1108 of B. P. O. Elks, Fairfax Parlor of Native Sons of the Golden West, Marin Lodge 200 of Odd Fellows, Tamal Lodge 393 of Rebekahs, San Anselmo Grove 268 of Druids, the Marin County Reserve Police Officers Assn., and Bay Counties Peace Officers Assn. He is current Lions Club zone chairman and past president of the Kentfield Lions Club, past president of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce, and past president of San Rafael Aerie 256 of Eagles.

He and his wife, Alma, live at 15 Bank Street. A married daughter, Mrs. Arlene Campi, lives in Terra Linda. There are two stepsons, Louis Campredon of Novato and Marcel Campredon of South San Francisco.

REICHMUTH, 46, is a supervisor for the Army Transportation Service at Fort Mason. Two years ago he attained notice by enrolling as a full-time graduate student in electronics at University of California, after leaving a job as sales engineer for a San Francisco wholesale hardware firm. He was then mayor of San Anselmo and was reported as the only mayor on the Berkeley campus.

Reichmuth is a Stanford University graduate. He and his wife reside at 405 Redwood Road. A son, Howard, is attending Wooster College in Ohio, and a daughter, Barbara, is enrolled at U. C. in Berkeley.

RAGAN, 52, is comptroller of Food Merchandisers Corp. in San Rafael. He retired from the Army as a master sergeant in 1962 after 20 years' service, of which about 16 years was in the intelligence field. Before joining the Army during World War II, he was credit and collection manager for a glass company in Columbus, Ohio.

He was born in Columbus, and completed his education at Crane Junior College and North Park College.

Ragan is a member of the Sponsors of Synanon, who sponsor the narcotic rehabilitation program of the Synanon Foundation, which recently opened a house in San Francisco. He is a member of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, and active in Little League and Senior League baseball. His Army career included service in Europe and Korea.

Ragan, his wife, Helen, and three children reside at 457 Laurel Avenue.

Warren Jr. To Talk On Chile Aid Program

Earl Warren Jr., director of the California-Chile project, will speak at 8 p.m. April 17 at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo on the aid which Californians have given Chileans since their earthquake of 1960.

The American Assn. for the United Nations will sponsor the meeting, open to the public. The California-Chile project is part of the U. S. foreign aid program.

Mrs. Loren Jay also will speak, describing exchanges between Sausalito and Vina del Mar, Chile, "sister cities," as part of the People to People program initiated by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956.

Mrs. Grace McDonald of San Jose, editor of the California Farm Reporter, will discuss the California Freedom from Hunger Foundation's project in southern Chile. The project area, about 5,000 square miles, was devastated by the quake. Tidal waves destroyed 5,000 boats. The foundation believes that the best help in feeding a hungry population is self-help, and is raising money to rebuild and motorize fishing boats.

Telephone Prefixes To Change

About 1,900 telephones in Greenbrae and Los Ranchitos will have new prefixes April 11 for the second time in two years, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced today.

The numbers changes will be made as the company ceases servicing these phones from its San Rafael central office and switches them to two other exchanges, said San Rafael manager Gordon Davenport.

After having prefixes changed from GLenwood to 453, 454 and 456 two years ago, the numbers now will be changed to 461 and 479 prefixes.

About 1,100 phones in Greenbrae will be handled from the exchange at 7 King Street, Larkspur, and get the prefix 461. About 800 Los Ranchitos phones will be handled by the Parkway office, just north of the Terra Linda interchange and east of Highway 101, and receive the prefix 479.

The 1964 Marin telephone directory, due out next week, lists the new phone numbers, said Davenport.

Teacher Dunking Part Of Tam Fete

Teacher dunking will be one of the activities Saturday at "Sadie Hawkins Day" from noon to 5 p.m. at Tamalpais High School.

Jill Rosean, student publicity chairman, said that people may buy tickets, get three sponges and then, if they throw and hit a teacher with a sponge, the teacher falls into the water. There will be 26 booths, she said, and the public is invited.

Money realized from the event will be placed in the student body fund. Some of the students have indicated they will be dressed in Little Abner and Daisy Mae costumes.

Daniel Webster worked his way through Dartmouth as a part-time reporter for a weekly newspaper.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Sometimes Certain Foods Can Destroy Effect Of Medicine For Heart

VAN DELLEN

A 64-year-old man was under treatment for high blood pressure with a new but highly acceptable remedy. He ate a cheese sandwich for lunch and developed indigestion 10 minutes later. Pain beneath the breastbone became so severe he feared a heart attack and was taken to the receiving ward of a hospital.

Distress subsided within 20 minutes. On admission, his blood pressure was over 200 and his physicians were puzzled because the medicine had successfully kept the reading below 140 over a two-year period.

WHAT MADE the blood pressure rise so abruptly? Various possibilities were considered but a reaction to cheese was the most likely explanation. Similar reactions to the combination of cheese and anti-hypertensive agents have been reported.

Fermented cheese contains a specific substance that is capable of nullifying the action of this medication. The blood pressure dropped to normal two hours after hospitalization. It is doubtful whether this man will eat cheese again while taking the hypotensive agent.

FOODS ARE chemicals and there is no reason why they cannot aggravate or neutralize the action of a drug that is taken simultaneously. Spinach and other leafy vegetables, for example rich in vitamin K.

This is of no consequence unless the consumer also is taking an anticoagulant to slow the blood clotting time after a heart attack. Large amounts of vitamin K will destroy the effectiveness of the anticoagulant. Aspirin does the same.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

CASTING OFF GUILT

Mrs. H. writes: I went to a psychiatrist, who said I project my feelings. This didn't help me any. Do you know anything about this condition?

REPLY

Projection is a compensatory means of defense in which intolerable feelings of guilt or inadequacy are projected onto others. This type of bizarre thinking makes the person feel better about his own faults. The situation can be likened to blaming the hammer after hitting the thumb.

TREMBLING HAND

R. S. writes: My right hand shakes so I can hardly write. This is making me so nervous I don't go anywhere for fear I will have to sign my name. My doctor prescribed a sedative and a tranquilizer but they did no good. Do you think shots of vitamin B would help the nerves so that shaking would stop?

REPLY

Possibly, but why not ask your physician when you see him again.

FINGER BITER

G. T. writes: My boy friend bites his thumb and fingers so that the skin looks awful. He won't see a doctor. Is there any way I can help him cure this bad habit?

REPLY

Not if emotional immaturity is responsible for his behavior. Unless he grows up, look for a new boy friend or you will have to contend with this kind of thing the rest of your married life.

NO VACCINE

J. D. writes: Can shots be taken to prevent meningitis?

REPLY

Meningitis means inflammation of the meninges, the membranes surrounding the brain and spinal cord. A variety of micro-organisms can cause the disease. Vaccines are available for some of these, such as polio and measles.

Arteries Hardening Linked To Chemistry

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—It may be that hardening of the arteries is encouraged or discouraged by "local" chemical factors built into arteries which differ from individual to individual and even from race to race.

If that is so, what people eat —or refrain from eating—is less important in the progressive hardening of their arteries than some scientists now think.

The team of scientists proposing this contrary idea drew their evidence from the arteries of the people who have provided the most support for the theory that the high-fat diet speeds artery-hardening.

They are the Bantu tribesmen of South Africa. They have a phenomonally low death rate from a stopped-up heart artery when it is compared to the rate for most white races. The Bantu diet also is phenomonally low in fats.

For minute laboratory inspection, the scientists had arteries taken from 196 Bantus who at the time of death were older than 25. They also had the arteries of 125 whites who were of the same ages when they died in the same hospital —in Pretoria, South Africa.

In general the heart arteries and the aortas of the whites were much more severely hardened when compared to those of the Bantus. (The aorta is the artery into which the heart pumps blood for distribution by various branchings throughout the body.)

But when the scientists compared the cerebral arteries where hardening can lead to "strokes" and "cerebral accidents," they found no notable differences in the degrees of hardening. This of course, raised the question: If a low-fat diet preserved Bantu aortas and coronary arteries, then why didn't it preserve their cerebral arteries, too?

The scientists who raised this question in Circulation, technical organ of the American Heart Assn., were Drs. B. J. Meyer, W. J. Pepler, A. C. Meyer and J. J. Theron of the University of Pretoria.

To them their findings supported "the thesis that local vascular factors are more heavily implicated than is generally accepted by the proponents of the theory that arteriosclerosis (artery-hardening) is a manifestation of a systemic metabolic disease."

Before there is extensive scientific argument over what these "local vascular factors" may be, there should be a detailed comparison of the built-in chemistries of Bantu and white arteries, they said, adding that they are now making such comparisons.

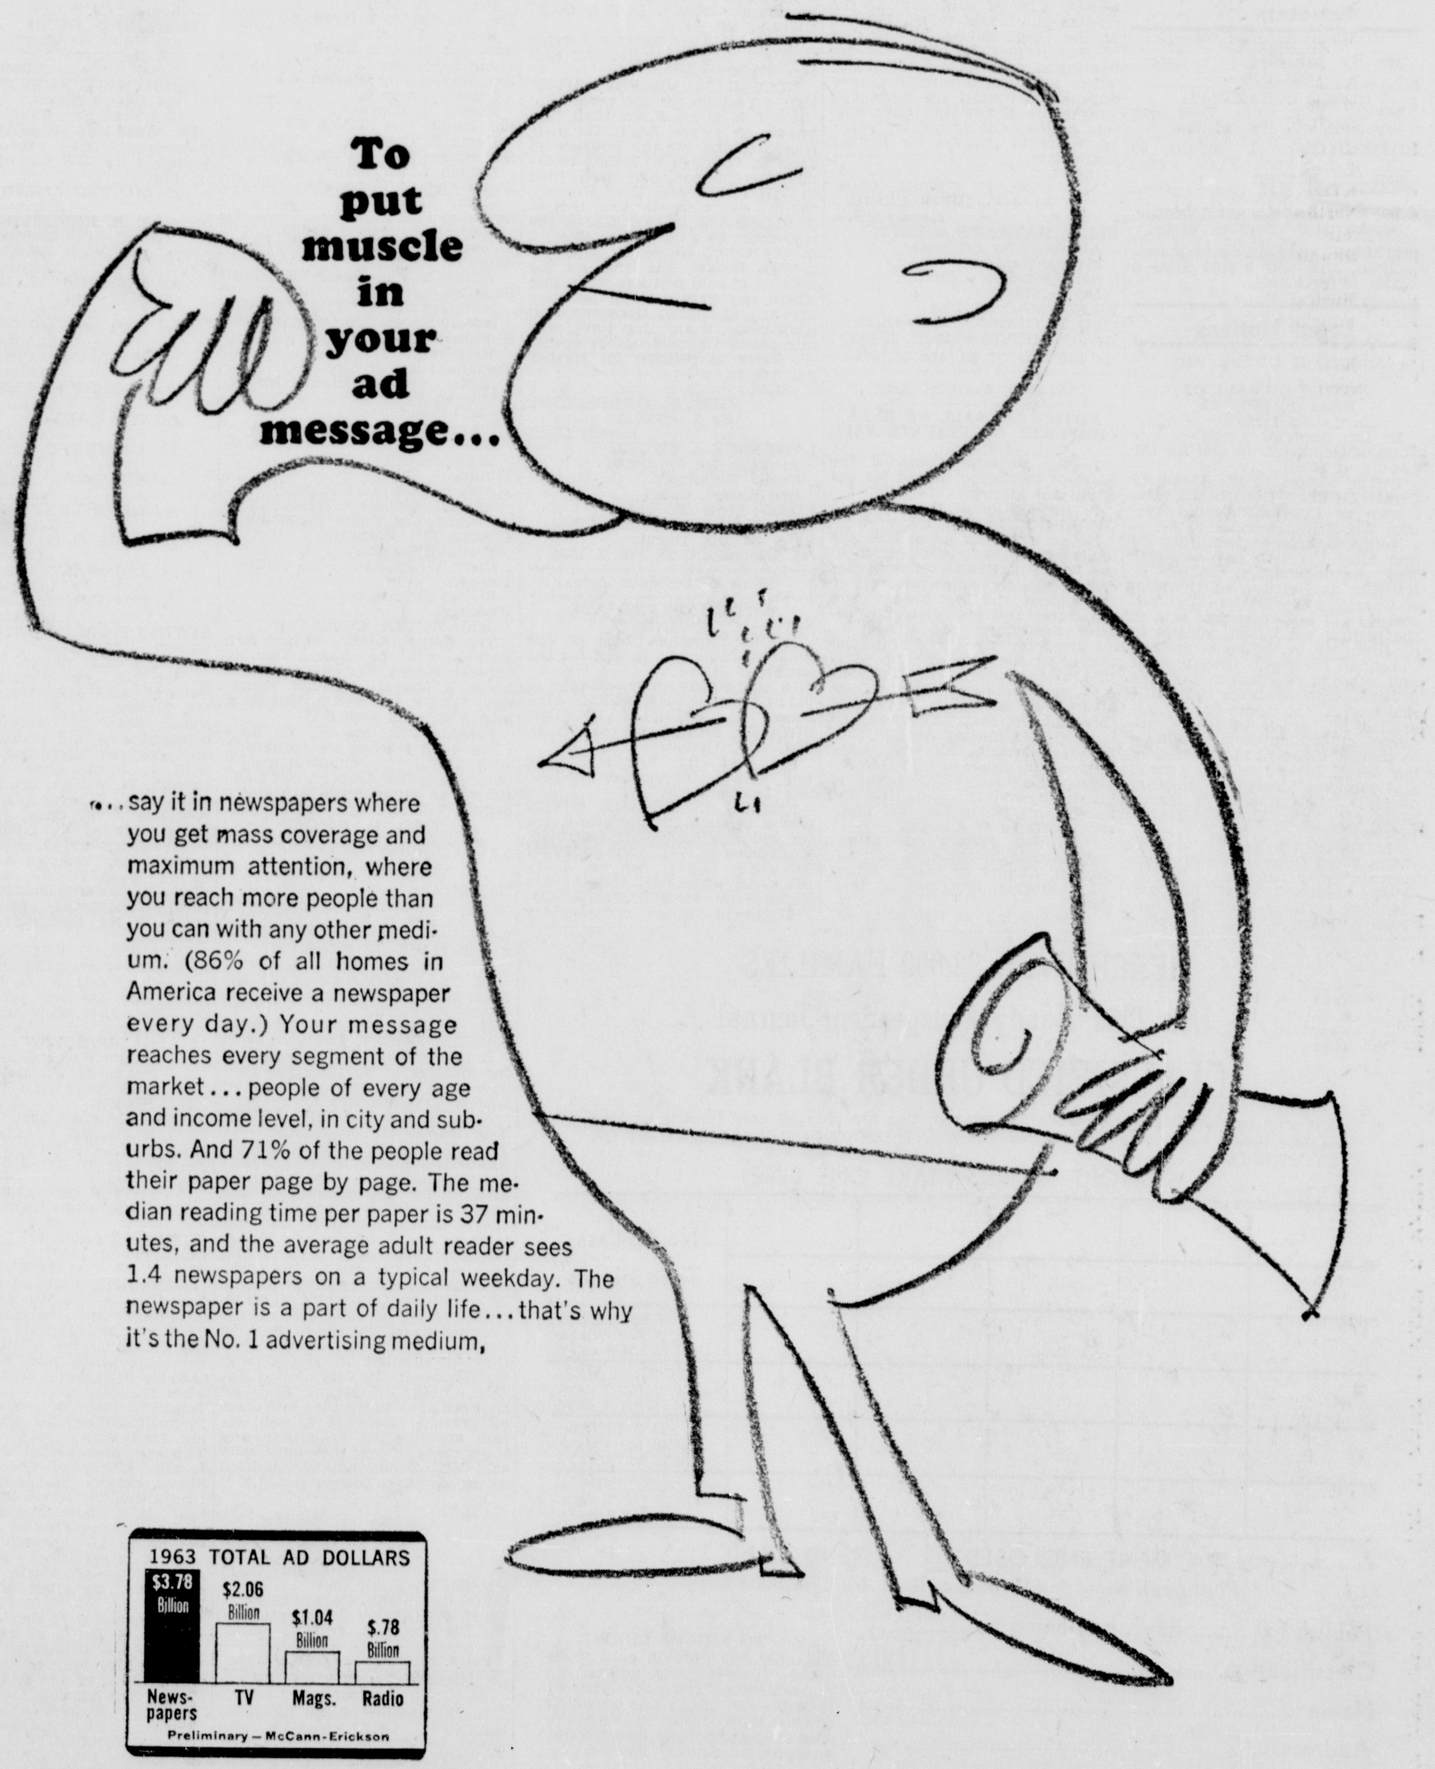

The Bantu and white arteries were much alike in one respect, despite the difference in diet. Artery-hardening was very low in all cases until the Bantus and whites entered their 20s. Thereafter it increased progressively and "was most dramatic in the aorta and coronary arteries of white men."

Their studies also supported the scientists who dispute the theory that hardening of one artery indicates the others are hardening in the same degree. The aorta shows hardening influences first, they found, then coronary arteries and third comes cerebral arteries.

Local factors such as the continuous elastic recoil of the aorta and the rhythmic flexions of the coronary arteries during each cardiac cycle, must be important in the determination of the selective onset and progress of arteriosclerosis in the different vascular beds," they said.

Wins Scholarship

Kenneth E. Waegner Jr. of 921 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, a senior at University of San Francisco, has won a $200 scholarship presented by the San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of the National Defense Transportation Assn. for study in the field of transportation.

MARIN FILM FARE

Military Drama Is Due Hub Screen

By LES BARD

Here's current and coming on the movie screen of Marin this weekend:

TAMALPAIS THEATER

A military drama based on a novel by Howard Fast, "Man in the Middle" opens Sunday in San Anselmo.

Filmed in India and England, it opens with Robert Mitchum arriving during World War II at an American base in India. He immediately perceives a hostility between British and American troops.

Mitchum, a lieutenant colonel, has been assigned to defend Keenan Wynn, an American officer who shot to death a British sergeant in front of 11 witnesses.

Mitchum reports to the American commanding general, Barry Sullivan. He is told he must put up a good legal front for Wynn, but that Wynn must hang in the interest of harmony between Americans and British.

Mitchum's basic decency will not allow this. He investigates, finds Wynn decidedly paranoiac, pleads him not guilty by reason of insanity.

There is great consternation in American officialdom, including Mitchum's friend, the general. This hurts because Mitchum is up for promotion. Finally, justice prevails.

Wynn's performance as the murderer is exceptional, and Trevor Howard is distinguished in a courtroom sequence as a British major who cuts through the legal tangle of stalled justice. France Nuyen is seen as a Eurasian nurse and Mitchum's romantic interest.

FAIRFAX THEATER

In more ways than one, "Dr. Strangelove" is the very end.

The satire now showing depicts the end of the world, nuclear bomb style. And as Hollywood comedy with much method in its utter madness, it is the utmost.

The story is essentially simple, but its execution is both brilliant and profound.

Sterling Hayden, Belvedere actor-author, plays a demented SAC general. He is convinced water fluoridation is a Communist plot. In retaliation, he sends a fleet of jet bombers to drop their lethal loads on Russia.

Once the attack is under way there is no stopping it without the general—and he blows his brains out. Step by step, minute by minute, the highly trained crews move toward their target cities—and to mankind's doom. With all its comedy, the film's suspense mounts steadily.

Peter Sellers is outstanding in a cast that is all outstanding. He has three major roles: The RAF aide to the mad general, President Merkin Muffley and the not very ex-Nazi scientist, Dr. Strangelove.

As chairman of the joint chiefs, George C. Scott paints a memorable caricature of a gum-chewing general incapable of comprehending the magnitude of the danger.

You can't help but enjoy this fine film. You will laugh, and laugh and laugh. And then you may just wonder....

NOVATO THEATER

Two fine musicals arrive Sunday:

"Music Man" re-creates the superlative stage performance by Robert Preston as a lovable con man who tries to peddle musical instruments to River City, Iowa, in 1912—then skip town before delivering.

Other stars in the Meredith Willson funfest are Shirley Jones, Buddy Hackett and Hermione Gingold. But the real stars are tunes like "You've Got To Know the Territory," "Good Night, My Someone" and that delightful march, "76 Trombones."

"Oklahoma," first film done in Todd-AO, also stars Shirley Jones along with Gordon MacRae in an exhilarating Rogers and Hammerstein musical it's a pleasure to see return.

MOTOR MOVIES

Burt Lancaster has the role of a man whose world is suddenly divided in "The Leopard," Italian film translation of the fine novel by Guiseppe Tomasi, Prince of Lampedusa.

The setting is Sicily in the 1860s, following Garibaldi's revolution. Lancaster plays a Sicilian prince torn between his gentility and the new middle class.

Claudia Cardinale has a major role as the voluptuous daughter of the town's bourgeois mayor.

"The Stripper," co-featured, is an erroneous title for a touching drama about a youth's first tussle with life and the part a mature woman plays in that awakening.

Joanne Woodward dominates the film in the title role of a showgirl stranded in a small Kansas town. Richard Beymer plays the boy, Claire Trevor his mother.

101 DRIVE-IN

Natalie Wood and Steve McQueen are casual lovers suddenly faced with serious consequences in "Love With the Proper Stranger."

It's a romance in reverse. McQueen barely remembers Natalie from their affair at a resort when she arrives to tell him she is going to have a baby—his. When McQueen accepts his responsibilities and tries to help, true love is born.

Co-featured is "Wives and Lovers," a worldly domestic comedy that looks into the problem of what success does to marriage.

Van Johnson plays a long-struggling author who suddenly clicks with a new novel. He moves his wife, Janet Leigh, and daughter to a suburb — then becomes involved with his ultra-chic agent, Martha Hyer.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Going on screen Sunday is "The Victors," Carl Foreman's resounding cinematic protest against the futility and dehumanizing effects of war.

The story is told in episodes, each involving GIs who start out in Britain and fight through the Italian and French campaigns into Berlin.

Outstanding roles are played by Eli Wallach as a gruff, not-very-smart sergeant, George Peppard as a young man who hides deep loyalties and convictions beneath a devil-may-care personality, and George Hamilton as an ever-hopeful idealist.

The maturing of the men is developed as they slowly come to accept with increasing callousness the devastation and degradation around them.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Conflict and comedy share the screen through Sunday.

"Kings of the Sun" takes a Hollywood look at the Mayan civilization 1000 years ago in Central America. A young Mayan king driven from his Yucatan kingdom by invaders creates a new city-state in what is now Texas.

The Mayan mixture of savagery and intellect give the stars, Yul Brynner, George Chakiris and Shirley Anne Field, a chance to emote, which they do very effectively.

Kim Novak, Jack Lemmon and Fred Astaire are the big names at the head of "Notorious Landlady," a happy blend of mystery, comedy and romance.

RAFAEL THEATER

Coming in Sunday is "The Prize, screen adaptation which makes a cloak-and-dagger thriller of Irving Wallace's best-seller.

Six Nobel winners gather in Stockholm on the eve of the award ceremonies. Paul Newman plays a blase American novelist who makes it clear he's only impressed with the $50,000 prize money.

His better nature is revealed when he detects international intrigue right under the noses of the Nobel committee. How he exposes the plot makes a suspenseful story of derring-do with a refreshing close-up of Stockholm scenery.

"Period of Adjustment" is co-featured. It's a Tennessee Williams product, but not his usual stuff. Almost neurosis-free. It's light, good-natured and highly diverting.

Jane Fonda and Jim Hutton star.

LARK THEATER

Peter Sellers and Terry-Thomas are remaining with us in "Man in a Cocked Hat."

Britain's Boulting Brothers, specialists in spoofing, this time take apart the British Foreign Office.

When the Russians begin noticing a long-forgotten colony, Terry-Thomas is sent to represent Her Majesty. He louses things up so badly the U.N. must be called in.

Co-featured is "Three Fables of Love," a French trilogy dealing with romance, infidelity and seduction — with a lighthearted approach to all three.

Rozanno Brazzi and Leslie Caron are the biggest of many names involved.

Final Tryouts Set

Final tryouts for Sausalito Little Theater's summer melodrama, "Under the Gaslight," will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the theater at 745½ Bridgeway. The melodrama, according to director Penny Vieregge, will run through the summer with two casts alternating.

Three Seeking Position On Novato Fire Board

Three candidates are contending for one three-year term on the Novato Fire District board of directors in an election next Tuesday.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Fire Station 1, according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

The candidates are Ralph C. Briggs of 1177 Midway Court, Robert E. Campbell of 1301 Olive Avenue, and Kenneth L. Roche of 34 Washington Street. They are seeking the position being vacated by Robert J. Busher.

Briggs, a contractor and owner of Tomahawk Lodge, is the only one of the three candidates with previous experience on the fire board. He served for three years starting in 1958.

He was born in Providence, R. I., Sept. 24, 1900, and attended school there. He served in the Navy during World War I as a cook at a submarine base. After the war, he formed the R. C. Briggs Co. to do contracting work in Providence.

In 1933, he moved to San Francisco, and was a carpenter foreman at Letterman General Hospital. In 1937, he became a building contractor, and six years later moved his residence and business to Novato.

Briggs served on the Marin County Grand Jury in 1961, and is a past president of the Novato Horsemen's Assn.

Campbell was born Sept. 1, 1932 in Ross. He has lived most of his life in Novato. He attended San Rafael High School while living in Black Point, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert E. Campbell, still live at 10 Hillside Terrace.

He is employed at Hoy's TV Service in San Rafael as an electronics technician.

He has been an active volunteer fireman for 12 years, and served as a full-time Novato fireman for four years.

He and his wife, Sylvia, live at 1301 Olive Avenue. They have two daughters, Cheryl, 7, and Laurie, 4.

Roche, 35, was born in San Francisco. He has lived in Novato for 12 years and is co-owner of Jim and Ken Television Service at 1110 Grant Avenue.

He is a member of the Novato Druids and was an original member of the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He is married and he and his wife, Lou, have two children, Kenny, 9, and Linda, 13. They live at 34 Washington Street.

Crescent City Declared Disaster Area By LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Crescent City area was designated yesterday by President Lyndon B. Johnson as a major disaster area eligible for special federal aid.

State authorities estimate that a tidal wave, triggered by last week's Alaskan earthquake did more than 10 million dollars damage to the area.

Classroom Plans To Be Discussed

Plans for classroom organization for the 1964-1965 school year at Isabel Cook and Brookside Schools will be discussed by the San Anselmo School District board at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Isabel Cook School multipurpose room.

A report from the citizens architectural advisory committee will be presented by Nelson King, and National Defense Education Act projects will be considered.

In 1965, the United Nations will start a 10-year study of the world's water supply.
